

Comments

about the Thrashers, but you can about the Gladiators. They are the true champs.

LINDA HUTCHINSON
Duluth

The AJC

AS A PROFESSIONAL WRITER (The Atlanta Voice) and a huge newspaper fan, I found Steve Fennessy's article on Atlanta Journal-Constitution editor Julia Wallace ("Between the Lines," February) extremely entertaining and informative. Everything is online these days, and I hardly ever see someone reading the paper on my lunchtime strolls Downtown (I work on Peachtree Street). Hopefully, the printed word will make a comeback in 2008 and great papers like my hometown New York Times and my new home's AJC will lead the way.

DONNELL SUGGS
Atlanta

Review of the Reviewer

JUST THIS QUICK message to say how much my wife Barbara and I have enjoyed Eleanor Ringel Cater's articles. She is a fabulous writer, one of this country's best movie critics, and we read everything she writes—so we are going to keep buying your magazine, hoping to see more of her work in the months and years ahead. Thank you.

REVEREND GEORGE B. WIRTH
First Presbyterian Church
Atlanta

Pittypat's Porch

IN LEE WALBURN'S article regarding Pittypat's Porch ("The Restaurant that Time Forgot," February), I found it interesting that he could tell the nationality (African American) of restaurant patrons merely by looking at them. It's possible they were from other countries around the world, but old Lee can tell with just one look that they are American?

BRYAN HIGHT
Atlanta

Faith and Marriage

I REALLY ENJOYED Chandra Thomas's article about the University of Georgia researchers who are studying the impact of regular prayer on African American marriages ("Does Marriage Stand a Prayer?" February). Specifically, I am intrigued by explorations into any connections between science and faith. These types of articles add to the diversity of your content and really make Atlanta magazine a great read.

I hope there is a follow-up in 2009 when the results are published. I suspect that prayer will play a positive role in healthy marriages; however I am also interested in how it interacts with other factors.

GODFREY FUJI NOE
Lithonia

Send your comments to: Letters to the Editor, Atlanta magazine, 260 Peachtree Street, Suite 300, Atlanta, GA 30303 or letters@atlantamag.emmis.com

Now Playing in New Orleans

If you can cook it, dance to it, or get inspired by it, we celebrate it in New Orleans. For more information on our unique festivals, visit NewOrleansOnline.com. Come out and play today!

French Quarter Festival
April 11-13, 2008

New Orleans Jazz & Heritage Festival
April 25-27 & May 1-4, 2008

New Orleans Wine & Food Experience
May 21-25, 2008

New Orleans Seafood Festival
June 13-15, 2008

COOLinary New Orleans
July 1-August 31, 2008

ESSENCE Music Festival
July 4-6, 2008

Tales of the Cocktail
July 16-20, 2008

Satchmo SummerFest
July 31-August 3, 2008

White Linen Night
August 2, 2008

Southern Decadence/DecaFest
August 27-September 1, 2008

Halloween New Orleans
October 23-26, 2008

Voodoo Music Experience
October 24-26, 2008

Prospect.1 New Orleans
November 1, 2008-January 18, 2009
Conceived in the tradition of the great international biennials, Prospect.1 will showcase the work of more than 75 of the world's most promising and recognized artists.

FOREVER NEW ORLEANS
NewOrleansOnline.com