

Starbucks is one of the wealthiest franchises out there. Their delicious coffees, lattes, and pastries are to die for. I have been drinking Starbucks every single day for the past 10 years. If you drink Starbucks just as much as I do, you know how pricey it can get? If you want to learn how to save some money and make copycat Starbucks drinks keep reading to find out how.

One of my favorite drinks is the vanilla sweet cream foam cold brew. Let us talk about the first step to making the sweet cream cold foam. Let us start by grabbing some cold milk; it can be whatever kind of milk you want. Then we are going to grab a table spoon of powdered sugar and a table spoon of vanilla extract. Go ahead and mix all these ingredients together. As you are mixing it should become frothy and boom you have your vanilla sweat cream cold foam.

The second step to making this drink is coffee. This is my favorite part because without this it is not really a “drink.” My preference for coffee would be the breakfast blend. You can use any type of coffee you would like. You can use instant coffee. You can also use brewed coffee or if you want to French press coffee, be my guest, just make sure it a full cup. This is a crucial step so make sure it is something you like.

Third step is our vanilla creamer. So, to make this type of creamer you are going to need half a cup of half-and-half. You will also be needing half a cup of whole milk. Finally, your favorite vanilla syrup, you can use whatever type of vanilla syrup you would like, you can buy it at any grocery store. You can add all these ingredients together and Wala you have your vanilla creamer.

Now all we must do is combine step one, step two, and step three and that will give us the perfect vanilla sweet cream cold brew. I know it does not taste exactly the same, and I know it is not Starbucks. This recipe is from the actual website so it is as close as you can get to the original. Also, if you want to save some money this is the perfect way to do it. You can try multiple recipes done the same way with assorted products. Then you just choose which one you like best. I mean come on do you not want to save some money?
