There are numerous advantages to holding an graduate degree in agribusiness. These degrees have value in that they are generally considered to be well balanced in content, result in good starting salaries and potential for upward mobility, and have relatively high employment rates.

I bring a diverse set of skills that I believe will be beneficial to any agricultural company I am going to work for. In previous internships, I honed my skills in needs assessments and vital sign recording and was also involved in crop monitoring, field mapping, fertilizer application, and regular field assistance to farmers as my primary goals. My communication skills, people-centric nature, and compassion have enabled me to provide excellent customer service.

I am excited to contribute my skills and motivational abilities to your efforts. I enjoy the industry and having the opportunity to research and learn new methods and processes every day in my position to optimize this field. My coworkers will attest to my high level of competence, and I hope to apply my knowledge, experience, dedication, and enthusiasm to the specific responsibility I am in.

Sincerely,
Hemanth Kumar Muppa
