

To whom it may concern,

Eric is a positive and friendly employee. He takes initiative to get things done on his own and is happy to complete any extra tasks asked of him. His positive demeanor make him an excellent guest experience specialist and his coworkers all enjoy working with him. He is also a reliable and honest individual. I would highly recommend him for anything requiring a self starter, or someone with great people skills. If you have any further questions please feel free to contact me.
