

Happy Wife = Happy Life

It's true that paper crafting is predominantly a hobby for women. Once in awhile I'll hear from a male reader (there are a few!) or the husband of a female reader. Since we celebrate fathers and husbands in this issue (turn to page 56), I just had to share this priceless comment that was left on our blog on World Card Making Day, 2010 by designer Regina Mangum's husband:

"I'm going to throw out a shocker here for you: I DON'T love card making. In fact, I kind of resent it because it's all my wife does. But, it makes her happy, so it makes me happy... happy wife = happy life, right? She might be REALLY NICE to me for a LONG LONG time if I won this for her. I practically have to wipe the drool off the floor whenever she reads this web site. I wish she'd get as excited to see me as she did when she sees something that looks a lot to me like a hole punch."
