

Hotels don't get more central to the capital than The Leonardo Royal Tower Bridge Hotel, this sleekly designed hotel is just a few minutes' walk from key attributes to 'The Big Smoke' such as The Tower of London, as well as The Shard and Tate Modern art gallery which are just a short stroll away, over the river.

This elegant hotel is the epitome of modernity, upon arrival a concierge service will escort you to a magnificent glass elevator which glides you through the floors, teasing you with the many recreational rooms along the way.

The 370 rooms that make up this visually pleasing hotel are furnished with mahogany, navy, orange, grey and gold colour schemes which enhance the professional yet welcoming aura that the hotel sets to achieve. All rooms are delightfully spacious, and all come with their own personal ensuite, coffee machines, televisions and spacious desks space.

Conference hotel or family hotel, The Leonardo Royal hotel can do it all, the suites are an ideal candidate to accommodate a larger number of people, with perks of complimentary robes, slippers and toiletries, as well as being offered a discount for lunch or dinner within The Tower Grill restaurant which resides within the building.

Indulging in comfort is a clear factor that this hotel wants its guests to do while visiting, as guests can also lap up the added comfort of staying on Leonardo Hotels signature DREAM beds that are exclusively designed by King Koil, the generous 12pm check out ensures they are thoroughly enjoyed.

We need to give extensive credit towards the amenities this hotel offers, starting with the striking 25m long pool, which is in a room covered in lavish, mosaic tiled walls which have white loungers placed against them, inviting you in for a therapeutic swim or lie down after an exhilarating day exploring the city. The impressive pool area comes hand in hand with a fully decked out sauna and spa where spa treatments will be happily provided at an extra fee, a marvellously relaxing plan after a trip to the hotel gym and leisure club.

The Tower Grill restaurant accommodates for everyone with their selection of grilled meat and seafood, along with vegetarian options and fun children's menu to entice the young diners. Enjoy the British and European Flavors in this capacious restaurant, which has an amiable amount of natural light, and large bright chandeliers- a faultless place to relish in the extensive buffet breakfast or enjoy a delicious evening meal.

You can also be endowed by what the two hotel bars can provide, Tower Bar, a coolly lit and stylish space is the ideal location for casual meetings or a delectable cocktail. Alternatively, you can visit the Knights Bar to appreciate the views of the city, while grazing upon your choice between afternoon tea, sandwich lunch or tapas sharing plates.

The Leonardo Royal Hotel harbours a vast number of facilities which make it one of London's premier business hotels as well as a family one, starting with the 17 versatile conference rooms that can each be set up in 9 different ways and hold a grand total of up to 850 guests. The rooms range from the petite Garrick Suite at 3.45 x 4.78m, to the vast Trinity & Goodman's Suite at the immense size of 31.04 x 20.83m, each one is equipped with state-of-the-art audio-visual equipment, portable staging and expert staff.

Whether you're travelling down to the capital for business, pleasure, or some family time, The Leonardo Royal Tower Bridge Hotel has you covered with the copious amount of spacious, contemporary, airy rooms they have to offer, in addition to the exquisite relaxation quarters that are too captivating to miss out on.
