

Question 1 of 20

50
points

What do you know?

How should you arrange your manicure implements and supplies when you're preparing your manicure table?

Inside a folded towel, in the order you need them

On top on a towel, grouped by type

Inside a folded towel with the handles facing you

Under a towel with the handles facing you

Look in the book!

Question 3 of 20

10
points

What do you know?

Which of the following is living skin that covers the matrix of a nail?

The eponychium is a thickened layer of living skin that covers the matrix. These long names might be a pain to learn, but you need to know them for your state boards.

Eponychium

Lunula

Hyponychium

Matrix

OOPS, TRY AGAIN

Look in the book!

Question 2 of 20

50
points

What do you know?

Which of the following statements about finding a hair model is true?

Your model should have a thick, strong neck to support the weight of a dramatic style.

Your model's appearance should match your vision for your competition look.

Your model should be willing to stand still for four hours at a time.

Your model should be a very beautiful person with professional experience.

Look in the book!

Question 14 of 20

50
points

What do you know?

What should you do right before applying moisturizing products to your guest's face?

Cleanse her T-zone with alcohol.

Wax her brows if needed.

Warm the products in your hands.

Perform light petrissage on her face.

Look in the book!

Question 15 of 20

10 points

What do you know?

What's the best way to figure out the non-negotiables you want in a job?

INCORRECT

Gather negative work experience.

To figure out what you're really looking for in a job, make a list of needs and wants relating to your work and personal life. If you want to be around hipsters and cool kids, don't take a job at a little salon in a retirement village. If you never want to hear another word about vinyl and bands you haven't heard of, don't accept a position at a trendy new downtown shop.

Make a list.

Ask your parents for advice.

Ask people who are established in their careers.

Look in the book!

Question 18 of 20

50
points

What do you know?

How can you find out what dirt the Internet has on you?

To see what the Internet is saying about you, Google your name. If you don't like what you find, remove it or contact the people who posted it, and ask them to remove it. Don't just check the first page of results that you find. Check at least a few pages back – you might be surprised by what you discover.

Google yourself to see what's out there.

Friend or follow only people you trust.

Use an RSS feed to alert you to new content.

Delete most of your social media accounts.

Look in the book!

