

The Bruins have 5 Stanleys. We've got over 300.

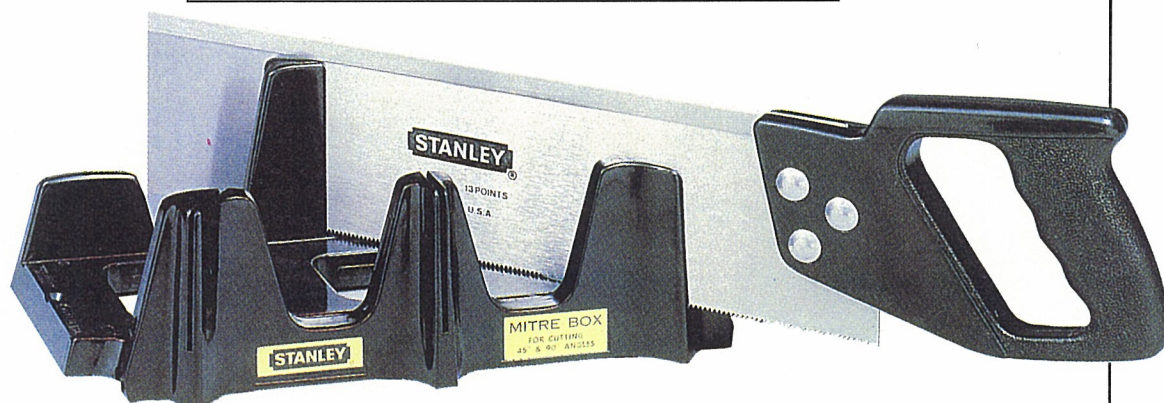

The Bruins won't settle for anything less than a Stanley. Why should you? Designed to give the best performance under the toughest conditions, Stanley hand tools have the strength and durability you need in order to get the job done right. They're crafted from only the finest materials available and continuously improved with new features to guarantee you a winning performance every time. When it comes to hand tools in today's market, Stanley stands helmets and shoulder pads above the competition.

STANLEY

Like Stanley and the Bruins, Grossman's is dedicated to bringing its fans what they deserve. The best quality products, brand name assortment and professional services available in the home improvement industry are at your local Grossman's right now. While you're there, stop by the hardware department and check out our Stanley hand tool lineup.
