Profile

Multidisciplinary creative director and visual artist based in Accra, Ghana, working across film, photography, graphic design, branding, and sound. My practice sits at the intersection of culture, design, and storytelling, drawing heavily from West African visual language while engaging global contemporary aesthetics.

I collaborate with brands, cultural institutions, NGOs, and creative communities to produce work that is socially conscious, visually distinctive, and culturally grounded—from documentary-led films and campaign visuals to brand systems, exhibitions, and experimental media. Adept at leading multidisciplinary teams and aligning creative strategy with branding, communication, and community impact goals.
