

maceebinns

May 15

Hot Single Bachelors Reveal 20 First Date Turnoffs That Most Women Do Without Realizing It

We turned to AskMen.com to find out more about what men think about online dating, and what the biggest turn offs for guys really are. Ladies if you are wondering what NOT to do on a first date, then read up and take notes. This could improve your love life long term! First date etiquette can be tough to navigate, but checking out this list of the most voted for "not to do's" can help you nail that Mr. Right, or at least your next blind date!

1. Being arrogant or stuck up.

(Humility is key ladies!)

2. Checking their phone constantly.

Make a postEdit

3. Bring a friend along without saying anything about it first.

(As previously mentioned have your friends on stand by via text only just incase he's a total creep.)

4. Constantly negative.

(No one likes a Debby Downer, so put your best foot forward and stay upbeat during your date!)

5. Having no sense of humor.

(You've gotta roll with the punches ladies, and throw a couple in there when you can to showcase your witty personality.)

6. Being rude to the waitstaff.

(This is a no-no across the board. Be nice to those who serve you!)

7. Not talking.

(Plan out something you can talk about before your date if you have to cause no one likes a mute dinner partner.)

8. Talking about her exes.

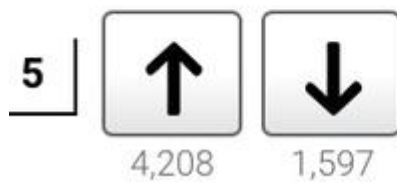

(Obviously it should be a no brainer that this would be a huge turn off, so always leave the past where it belongs... in the past!)

9. Talking over you and never letting you get a word in edge-wise.

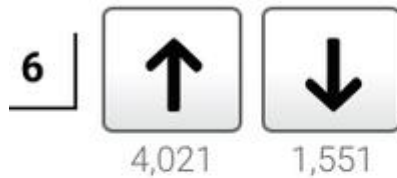

(Even if you are uber excited about this date and want to tell him your entire life story in the first 15 minutes, resist the urge. Leave a little mystery. A conversation should flow, so don't forget to ask him questions and let him answer you before you jump into the next topic.)

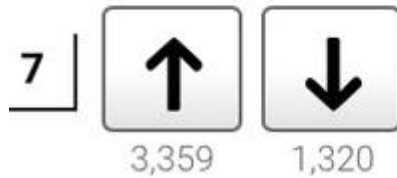

Constant negativity

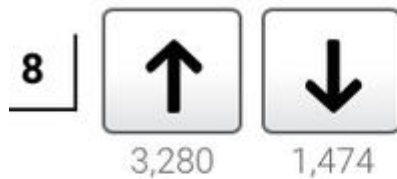

Having no sense of humor

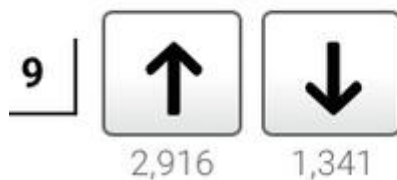

Being rude to the waitstaff

Not talking

Talking about her exes

Talking over you and never letting you get a word in edge-wise

10. Talking about how important she is to everyone she knows.

(This goes back to number 1. Humility is key!)

11. Thick caked-on makeup.

Make a postEdit

(Guys want to see more of your natural beauty, not what you can do with a three hour makeup application via your favorite Youtube Tutorial.)

12. Assuming you'll do everything because "You're the guy."

(Welcome to the 21 century ladies! We fought for those equal rights, so use them.)

13. She tries to find an excuse to be mean.

(Stroke their ego, don't tear it down. You've only just met him.)

14. Chewing with her mouth open.

(Table manners 101. No one wants to see the carcass of what use to be your food rolling around your tongue.)

it!)

16. Lying about anything in her profile.

(I mean we all embellish a little bit, but don't tell him you cured cancer if you didn't cause thanks to google you will get caught these days!)

17. Not eating on a dinner date.

(You may be self-conscious about eating in front of this stranger, but food is important to guys. If they are buy it for you, then they don't want to see their money to go waist.)

18. Fishing for compliments.

(If he likes you then let him tell you. Be confident enough to know that you look stunning without forcing it out of the man.)

19. Getting way to drunk.

(Keep it to a "two drink minimum" as Patty the Millionaire Matchmaker always says.)

Make a post Edit

don't let them smell it on you during the first date.)

Follow these guidelines divulged to us by some of the internet's most eligible bachelors, and your next blind date is sure to be a success! Happy dating!

1 0

Comments

Your comment...