

Home Page:

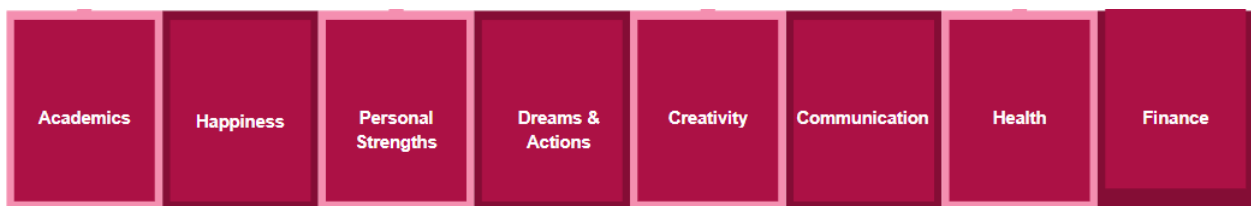

Free workshop

Open the world of new possibilities with just one click! Access one free workshop by signing up here.

Workshop Details:

You are not a product of your circumstances but your decisions. Albeit, how do you know you are making the right decisions for yourself? Well, there is no science to it. However, you can be proactive in your approach by focussing on things that are under your control to deal with situations even when they are not under your control.

‘Proactive I’ is the place that will teach you how to achieve that through its workshops curated on the back of eight important tenets:

(Make each block clickable for videos)

Trainings

Students’ Essentials

Learning is more than just reading books. It’s about being attentive, collaborative, aspirational, and even inspirational for your peers. You can do that by taking care of not just your academics but health, happiness, dreams & aspirations too. Take Proactive I Student Essentials training to keep yourself ahead of the curve...

Teachers’ Essentials

Someone rightly said that it’s far more important to be the right kind of teacher than the right kind of student. A proactive teacher can motivate their students & peers by saying the right things at the right time. Looking inwards to solve problems in a collaborative manner, that’s what Proactive I Teachers’ Essentials training will teach you...

Family Essentials

Your relationship with your family is at the core of your relationships. That's why it's very critical to build a strong rapport with them; share your dreams & aspirations; create a financially strong future; and have a deep emotional connection with them. Proactive I Family Essentials training will make you a more empathetic, more involved family person...

Business Essentials

To be a good leader is a lot of effort. You have to take care of your people, your business, and yourself as well. Proactive I Business Essentials training will mold you into an inspirational personality that is set to grow their enterprise as well as help their teams to evolve with time. Take the course now to open the doors to a mutually beneficial and successful future...