

Ian Napetian

Originally from the San Francisco Bay Area, I have also lived in Singapore, Oregon, and Texas. I'm a motivated, resourceful person who thrives in demanding situations, willing to take on and learn from the most challenging opportunities. My experiences overseas and diverse upbringing have allowed me to understand different perspectives and work in both team and individual settings. Playing sports competitively from an early age instilled discipline and dedication in everything I do. I value and respect others, holding myself to the highest standards as I strive to be an effective leader. I am eager to learn more and make an impact as a professional in the journalism and broadcasting industry.
