INT. PARTY STORE - DAY

Establishing shot of the exterior. Camera pans into a very colorful and vibrant party store following a woman holding her daughter's hand.

INT. CONFETTI CANON AISLE

A big plexiglass bucket sits near the end of an aisle, filled with transparent confetti canons. A kid similar to Sid from Toy Story shakes a cannon, a confetti washing machine.

The boy tosses the cannon back in and walks away. It lands near another cannon, stuck near the edge of the bucket. The home of FETTI, a small piece of pink confetti.

She is an observer. She sees posters around the store depicting confetti celebrations. Birthday parties, graduations, etc. She pines for a moment like that.

She jumps around excitedly, gathers a couple handfuls of confetti around her (who are not alive) and tosses them up.

She looks towards the door. A family skips out of the store as it fades to white.

INT. CONFETTI CANON AISLE - NEXT MORNING

Montage of Fetti as she tries to get a customer's attention.

She jumps up and down.

Throws confetti snowballs at the inside wall.

Tries to parkour up the walls to the top, etc.

Despite her efforts, she is never chosen.

INT. FETTI'S CANNON

She slumps over as she watches another cannon get picked before her. She lays flat on her back, closes her eyes, and takes a deep breath. She stands back up and just as she does, she sees MARY (30) enter the store.

INT. PARTY STORE

Mary grabs a basket, walks straight to the confetti cannons, and grabs armfuls of cannons.
