raco and Harry's rivalry began when Harry rejected Draco's offer of friendship, who saw Harry's fame as a way to boost his own social status. Jealousy played a big role in Draco's hatred towards Harry, as Draco resented Harry's talent, popularity, and close circle of friends and caring family.

According to Rowling, Malfoy originally makes an effort to be Harry's friend because

"It will be cool to be at the school being Harry Potter's friend, because Harry is so famous."

POTTER V

Since, Hagrid is a crossbreed of a human and giant (half-giant), much like Lupin is a crossbreed of a human and a magical wolf (a werewolf). Some (not all) pureblood Slytherins hated such individuals because in their eyes, they were "polluting" the wizarding world.

as Draco Malfoy really any good as the Seeker on the Slytherin Quidditch team? Sure; despite the myth that Draco bought his way onto the team, he was probably as good a Seeker as Ginny Weasley and Cedric Diggory, better than Cho Chang and almost as good as Harry Potter himself.

Though it may seem like Harry Potter always comes out on top, it is often overlooked how powerful of a wizard Draco Malfoy really is. Though Draco Malfoy's intentions aren't as pure as Harry's, he is often just as skilled despite the unpopular opinions surrounding the character.

MALFOY

Over his six years of enrollment at Hogwarts, through a combination of injury, suspension and match cancellations, Harry Potter played in just nine total Quidditch matches for Gryffindor, compiling a record of seven wins and two losses.

THE FLY

Hogwart Spirit

Albus Dumbledore was in Gryffindor, showcasing his bravery and courage throughout his life. However, his early ambitions could have placed him in Slytherin. Minerva McGonagall was a Hatstall between Gryffindor and Ravenclaw, but her fiery nature and bravery solidify her place in Gryffindor.

Did you know that the Hogwarts' motto is "Draco Dormiens Nunquam Titillandus" which means "never tickle a sleeping dragon"?

Each House represents one of the four classical elements: Fire (Gryffindor), Earth (Hufflepuff), Air (Ravenclaw), and Water (Slytherin). Each of these also represents one of the four states of matter: Plasma (Fire, Gryffindor), Gas (Air, Ravenclaw), Liquid (Water, Slytherin), and Solid (Earth, Hufflepuff).

Y ZONE

Quidditch Rundown

The object of the game of Quidditch is to score more points than your opponents. Players do this by scoring goals which is done by placing a slightly deflated volleyball called the Quaffle into the opposition's baskets giving them 10 points, and by capturing the Golden Snitch which is worth 30 points.

A Quidditch team is composed of seven people - three Chasers, two Beaters, a Keeper and a Seeker - with four balls in play (a Quaffle, two Bludgers and a Golden Snitch). This is the biggest issue with Quidditch that many fans of the series have pointed out. It's the biggest glaring flaw with the sport. Getting the Quaffle through the hoops only gives a team ten points while catching the Snitch ends the game and gives the team 150 points.
