Little ones starting preschool or kindergarten are just learning to read and spell. A label with their name on it will help them to start recognizing their own name and how to spell it. With their name on their belongings, kids pay more attention to what's theirs and what belongs to others. This helps to encourage mindfulness when it comes to their own stuff, but they'll also be proud to show off their cool personalized stickers.

Help Children Avoid Conflict With Other Kids

In a large class, the odds of your child having the same backpack or pencil box as another can be high. During the early formative years, the concept of sharing takes time for little ones to fully understand. Labeling their toys and school supplies will help encourage them to share and collaborate with others because they know they're sure to get their belongings back.

Save Money

How many lost mittens have you had to replace in the last year? Whether it's just a pair of socks here and there, or one pricier thing like a winter jacket, the cost of replacing lost items can add up. While you may still lose some things along the way, a name label gives you a better chance of the item finding its way home. A TeddyLabel also means you'll spend less money on labels in the long run because they won't need replacing like other stickers.

Save Time

If you've ever had to find the masking tape, scissors, and markers to create your own label, or used a mailing address label in a pinch, you're not alone. We've all been there, and we all know those solutions don't last the day, let alone the washing machine. Peel and stick labels are quicker, easier, and longer lasting. TeddyLabels also provide more opportunity for misplaced items to find their way back to you; so you waste less time hunting around and making calls to teachers or other parents.

Keep Belongings Cleaner

A name label eliminates the risk of your child drinking out of the wrong sippy cup or putting on the wrong face mask, exposing themselves to harmful bacteria and viruses. Should they lose an item, you can get it back before it goes into the Lost and Found box where icky, dirty, smelly items may be lurking.

Organize Your Household

Adhesive labels aren't only great for school supplies and kids' clothes, but can help you keep household items tidy and organized. Mini Name Labels are a great way to identify bins, drawers, or items like tooth brushes if you have several people living in your home.
