

How Hot You Are Based on Your Response to the Question “Do You Like Musical Theatre?”

“I like Hamilton!”

Hot Rating: ★★☆☆

Hey, we all start somewhere! Like many, you entered into the theatrical atmosphere when it became a major part of the cultural zeitgeist, and we’re happy to have you! Whether you found Hamilton on your own, or if the smile on Barack Obama’s face during the cast’s performance at the White House in 2016 acted as an epiphany, opening your eyes to the possibility of theater, I’m proud of you. You get 3 hotness stars for now, but please see my recommendations below, and feel free to retake the quiz once you’ve dived deeper.

For your next listen, I recommend Bring it On: The Musical or Rent.

More about you, based on your response:

- You post several instagram stories a day. Keep posting - you honestly get a lot of likes for your follower to following ratio!
- You’ve never been to Yonkers but you’re willing to give it a try, just for a couple hours, though.

“I liked James Corden in the Cats movie”

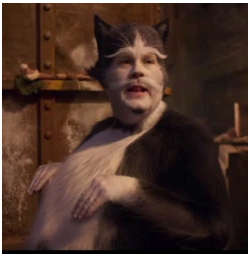

Hot Rating:

If that’s your genuine response to being asked if you like theater, please contact me individually so I can direct you to alternative theatrical experiences. Once I have provided those to you, I will call my attorney and get a restraining order put in place immediately. I don’t care how much you liked Carpool Karaoke, this is an unacceptable response and I feel very unsafe in your presence.

If your answer differed slightly and you mentioned Taylor Swift’s role in Cats, I will not take legal action. Rather, I’d love to grab a mocha sometime, and discuss the potential of a group Halloween costume for 2026.

More about you, based on your response:

- You needed psychological counseling as a child, but your parents were too scared to upset you because you were a biter.

-

“I was actually in Oklahoma in High School”

Hot Rating: ★★☆☆

Okay ... tell me more. You might not be objectively hot, but like, what role? I didn't know schools still did Oklahoma, so I assume you're from a small town, likely the midwest. You get 3 stars, not because you're hot, but because I'm imagining the day that your theater teacher announced Oklahoma! as the spring musical, and I feel really bad for you.

Any teenager who had to memorize the lyrics to “Oh, What a Beautiful Mornin” is probably slightly resentful towards the theater community. I hope you wake up each day, throw on your 1950's western garb and take back the love for the art that you undoubtedly lost somewhere between the 10th and 11th time you heard “The Surrey With the Fringe on Top.”

More about you, based on your response:

- You had a showmance with your co-lead that you probably think about every day of your life.
- You might like skiing, you might not.

“Wait yeah, do you wanna see a show sometime?”

Hot Rating: ★★★★★

Perfect. Succinct. Impactful. Sexy. Intriguing. No hesitation, no disclaimers, just 100% pure, unfiltered you. I admire you, and I love you. I will see you at the 2pm matinee showing of Little

Shop of Horrors (with Joshua Basset) on January 25th, 2026. After the show I'll suggest grabbing a bite at Junior's, you won't comment on how cheesy or outdated it is, you'll just smile and say, "hot fudge sundaes on me!"

You get five stars, but you probably don't even care because you know you're hot. Yet, you remain humble and kind, offering gum to overserved women on the subway. You tell them to get home safe, and because of you, they do.

More about you, based on your response:

- Your socks match everyday, but you still HATE a shoes-off party.
- You love a situationship, but you always set healthy boundaries to protect your mental health.

"Yes! I'm a total thespian!"

Hot Rating: ★★

Go ahead and calm down for me, will you? See, the thing with loving theater is, there's a line. Yes, I also minored in theater, I get it, but the correlation between liking musicals and being hot lies in the balance. The sweet spot is somewhere between knowing the full choreography to La Vie Boheme and getting The Phantom of the Oprah lyrics tattooed on your rib cage. Think of it this way - there are people who go to Disney, and then there are Disney adults. Going to Disney is fun! You go on some rides, you grab a rice krispy treat, and then you return to your life, a life where you don't own a 1000+ piece Mickey Mouse porcelain figure collection.

I'm giving you two stars because, at the end of the day, you're probably really annoying. It's not your fault, though, I'm sure someone told you that you could sing in elementary school and you've been chasing that high ever since. It's completely valid, you're just not that hot.

More about you, based on your response:

- Nightguard, right?
- You'll be a really good parent, but your kid will probably not get invited to every birthday party. Don't worry, it's not their fault - it's yours!