

The Places We'll Go

Nicole Rosenberg knows something about the importance of children's spaces within the family home. Founder of Liberty Interiors, the interior decorator and mum of three has honed her passion and expertise for creating beautiful spaces that are also practical and reflective of its inhabitant's individuality.

First-time parents, Jessica and Carly Wilde, were eager to reap the benefit of Nicole's years' of experience as they planned for the arrival of their baby.

HUGO'S ROOM

Wanting a room that was warm and inviting, the pair worked with Nicole to create a timeless space that could evolve with their child and reflect a few of their favourite things. So with travel, books and animals slotted into the design agenda, Nicole started with a foundation of earthy tones and classic navy blue via the Thibaut Pinellas wallpaper from Natty & Polly.

The natural tones of the Bayliss Rugs Stripe Taupe White Rug and the Leather Stitched Stacked Handle by Made Measure add the desired warmth to the space.

"We loved the idea of adding in lots of animals in the art and soft furnishings – Nicole even found the cutest lion cushion to sit on the chair!"

"We wanted something that we could adapt as Hugo got older, and we could with time incorporate his favourite things."

Working against tight timelines, made more difficult by the global pandemic, Nicole certainly had her work cut out for her. But though the realm of international travel may have hit the pause button, inside little Hugo's sanctum of love it became a focal point thanks to the beautiful world map artwork Nicole was able to source.

Undoubtedly the highlight of their firstborn's room, Jessica and Carly are avid travellers and fell in love with the geographic piece that will enable them to share their passion with Hugo while they wait for the world to catch up.

Taking turns to sit in the Sarah Ellis Alva feeding chair, both confess to being initially uncertain about such an extravagant purchase but in retrospect deem it to be one of the greatest additions to a room with relaxation at its core.

WARM
INVITING
