

WHAT PICTURES CAN YOU PUT ON A WALL? | LIMITLESS WALLS

Home or office interiors can be a confounding mystery when considering wall décor. So many questions that puzzle all budding decorators will fill the mind and confuse. What can I put on my walls? What is my style for this room? What pictures can I put on this wall (<https://www.limitlesswalls.com/wall-murals/collections/texture/graffiti.html>)? And so many more that it may overwhelm the DIYer. There are numerous items you can hang on your walls, but to really have an impact in the room, one must look at the overall theme. Below are some ideas to get you started.

Window Collage

You don't have to stick to old, boring pictures to decorate that blank wall. If you love to go to thrift shops or even yard sales, start collecting some interesting old windows. You won't have to do that trendy distressing as Mother Nature has already done most of the work. Place the windows in a somewhat balanced but random pattern and voila, a definite conversation piece for that empty space.

Family Tree

In a similar style as the window collage, take family photos in various styles, shapes, and colors of frames. Then you can place in a random pattern or even make a visual family tree. To tie in all the photos, look for a life-size tree decal or maybe even stencil a tree with many branches to give more meaning to your photo collage.

Plates

Nowadays most of us don't tend to use the fine china. Rather than collecting dust in the pantry, try mounting a few dishes in random sizes to showcase your heirlooms. It's a great way to add some pizzazz to your kitchen or dining room walls. So, don't worry what pictures you can put on a wall

(<https://www.limitlesswalls.com/wall-murals/collections/edibles.html>), just add some exquisite dishes on your walls instead.

Stenciling

If you prefer a more straightforward solution or would rather not mar your walls with nails, stenciling is a great alternative to what you can put on your walls. Try stenciling a repeating pattern to give the look of wallpaper. Or stencil in a whole array of items creating a scene of your favorite hobby to visit. You could even stencil in picture frames and glue some artwork in those frames for a u on pictures.

Car Tags

Your eyes aren't deceiving you, you definitely read car tags. A trend, especially for man caves or men's bedrooms, is to create a collage of auto tags from various states and even countries. This textured 3-D effect can be a conversation piece all on its own as that special guy can share stories of each acquisition.

Plus, upcycling is a great way to be kinder to the planet.

Household items

Rather than throwing away some of those old, worn items around the house, give them a second life on your walls. Instead of standard picture frames, take an old wooden ladder and use it to frame some old pictures, or even as a wall accent itself. Have some old kitchen gadgets such as old hand-cranked grinders or hand beaters? Take some of these long-forgotten manual powered items and arrange on your kitchen wall. It's sure to catch the attention of your guests.

Chalkboards

Chalkboards aren't for classrooms anymore. Take an arrangement of different sizes and shape of smaller chalkboards and draw cute pictures or inspiring words. Or even better, especially for a child's room, is to paint a wall with chalkboard paint and let them try out their inner Picasso.

Homemade Art

Try taking a canvas and placing masking tape in random lines. Then paint with one or more colors. When the paint is dry, remove the tape, and you have your own version of a Piet Mondrian painting. It's so simple that even kids can do it. You don't even have to have an artistic bone in your body.

If you're fortunate enough to go to the beach often, collect some shells, sand dollars, and even some driftwood to create a fun and inviting room. You could also paint these items in complementary colors to tie the room together.

Found Treasures

If you love going to garage sales or to thrift shops, or even finding random items along your daily commute, you can find some of these little treasures to create a unique, bohemian look to any wall. Try mixing and matching colors of times to give a fun, eclectic look.

Fabric Panels

A great way to add interest and a splash of color is to frame a favorite piece of fabric. Or for a more rustic approach, try hanging some on twine or rope for a clothesline feel perfect for the laundry room. If you're lucky enough to have an old quilt, hanging this on your wall will add a beautiful nostalgic accent to any wall. Don't want to hang on the wall? Try finding a quilt rack or even a quilt hoop to display in front of the wall.

Rustic Charm

Place some old wooden signs with various retro advertisements. Add some rope accents or even use twine to decorate an inexpensive frame to add some rustic flair. Or for larger walls, take an old wooden door either hang some of your antique signs, photos, flowers or even paint a design on it for a spectacular artwork that will satisfy any country loving soul.

If you have a favorite poem or inspirational quote, try painting a canvas or even some burlap with a base coat of white. Then paint or stencil that favorite saying onto the canvas to give you a personal and meaningful accent to any room.

Light and Art

For a dramatic look, try hanging a few smaller pieces of art in a cluster, then add some interesting sconces or floor lamp to emphasize the artistry of your design. A bit of light can draw the eye and attention of visitors and makes such a striking wall accent.

Hopefully, you no longer wonder what pictures you can put on a wall (<https://www.limitlesswalls.com/wall-murals/collections/beach.html>). Let these ideas inspire your creativity and open your mind to new decorating ideas that will not only beautify your space but intrigue your guests as well. It only takes some creativity, ingenuity, and a bit of your time to make your room décor something you'll love for years to come.
