SEMINOLE COUNTY'S SEASON OF GIVING

Local man, friend and historian of iconic artist Norman Rockwell donates special Santa artwork to his senior living community

Special to the Herald

Marshall Stolz, 86, is a Norman Rockwell super-fan. His love for the iconic artist's work sparked when he was a child. Over the course of his life, he became friends with Rockwell, opened a museum dedicated to the beloved illustrator, wrote four books about him and traveled the world giving speeches about Rockwell and his work.

This holiday season, Stolz shares his love of Rockwell with fellow residents and associates at The Watermark at Vistawilla, the senior living community in Winter Springs where he has lived with his wife, Eileen, for the past two years. Stolz has donated a valuable Rockwell collytype – a piece of artwork that involves a special printing technique – called "Christmas" and featuring Santa Claus, to the community to hang over the fireplace in the lobby.

"It was the perfect fit to give the community during Christmas," Stolz said. "I hope it brings holiday cheer for the people who live here and visit, when they walk by and see it."

Stolz and his brother, Donald, began collecting Rockwell reproductions when they were children. In 1970, Stolz called Rockwell and told him about their collection. The phone call prompted a meeting with Rockwell and then a friendship that would last until Rockwell's passing in 1978.

Stolz and his brother opened the Norman Rockwell Museum in Philadelphia in 1976, and it became internationally known for curating the largest collection of Norman Rockwell art in the world. Stolz was curator, and the family ran the museum for over 25 years, until it closed in the early 2000s.

Stolz became a sought-after speaker about Rockwell and gave more than 1,000 speeches on the artist in every state and throughout the world. He and his brother also wrote four books about Rockwell and the artist's work.

"Norman was a gentle man and a gentleman," Stolz said. "He was such a kind, sweet, goodhearted person who would do anything to make anybody happy."

Stolz owns another collytype, called "Spring Flowers," which hangs in the unit where he and Eileen live. Collytype is a reproductive printmaking technique that is photographically based. Although collytype is increasingly rare, in the early 20th century it was used for its effectiveness in reproducing the subtle delicacy of drawings and photographs. According to Stolz, his Rockwell collytypes are roughly 10 times more valuable than traditional "prints."

In addition to the Santa painting that hangs in the community's lobby in December, Stolz will share his love of Rockwell with fellow residents when he hosted a Watermark University class on Dec. 18 at 10 a.m. In the one-hour class, Stolz will share a large collection of photos of artwork that were taken at the Norman Rockwell Museum during his docent years, as well as colorful stories about each photo and the personal experiences he had with Rockwell.

Watermark University is an award-winning program at Watermark communities that features a wide variety of engaging classes for residents and area seniors. Classes are often led by residents who have experience or deep interest in a particular topic, such as Stolz's class on Rockwell.

"We feel so fortunate that Marshall has gifted our community with such a beautiful and special piece of artwork for us to display during the holiday season," said Kim Dike, community life director at The Watermark at Vistawilla. "He has fascinating stories to share about Norman Rockwell and is a wonderful storyteller. We're so excited to learn from his Watermark University class, and to give him an opportunity to thrive by sharing his knowledge and passion with others."

COUCH THEATER

By Demi Taveras

"Killers of the Flower Moon" (R) -- Director Martin Scorsese's latest release (and 26th feature film) is now available to rent or purchase, following its box-office run of $154.5 million. With an exemplary cast made up of Leonardo DiCaprio, Robert De Niro, Lily Gladstone, Brendan Fraser and more, this crime drama unpacks a series of targeted murders that occurred in the Osage Nation during the early 20th century. After finding oil in their land, the Osage tribe gains significant wealth that unknowingly draws in a pack of human parasites. Facilitated by a lack of interest from the local government, Osage members begin to die off seemingly without explanation. The film is based on a non-fiction book written by David Grann. (Apple TV+)

"Maestro" (R) -- For the first time since "A Star Is Born," Bradley Cooper had to juggle his acting/directing/writing hats for this biopic about the American composer Leonard Bernstein and his wife, Felicia Montealegre. The triple threat donned a prosthetic nose for his portrayal of the composer, opposite Carey Mulligan ("Promising Young Woman") as Felicia. The film follows Bernstein from 1943, when he was 25 and working as an assistant conductor, well into his old age in 1987 after years of composing successes such as "West Side Story." Amid his triumphant public accomplishments, Bernstein tucks away his hidden attraction to men, forcing himself to live a stifling double life. Directors Steven Spielberg and Martin Scorsese served as producers for the film, out on Dec. 20. (Netflix)

"Asteroid City" (PG-13) -- Grossing $54 million worldwide, Wes Anderson's latest comedy drama features an ensemble cast of great Hollywood names like Scarlett Johansson, Tom Hanks, Margot Robbie, Steve Carell and more. Ever the witty and unconventional writer, Anderson tells two stories in one, the first being a fictional play called "Asteroid City," which sets up how the film is told and framed. The second plotline, inter-persed between the play's scenes, follows the behind-the-scenes events about the playwright, Conrad Earp, and how his creation came to be. Anderson's directing style is right on brand, as always, with a beautiful pastel aesthetic and a clever visual design that feels akin to watching theatre. Out now. (Amazon Prime Video)

"Such Brave Girls" (NR) -- This comedic British sitcom centers on a single mother named Deb and her two daughters, Josie and Billie, played by two real-life sisters. Created by up-and-coming writer Kat Sadler, who stars as Josie, the series is described as a family sitcom about trauma. Through very punchy dialogue, it takes an honest and hilarious approach in showing the crunchy and awkward moments between family members that many people can relate to. The show seems similar to another British show, Phoebe Waller-Bridge's "Fleabag," which also touches on family trauma and finding a place in the world after a shaky upbringing. (Hulu)

Barring Trump From Ballots Is a Recipe for Violence

By Ben Shapiro

On Tuesday evening, the Supreme Court of Colorado ruled that former President Donald J. Trump had to be removed from the state ballot, for both the primaries and the general election. They cited Amendment 14, Section 3 of the Constitution of the United States, which states, in relevant part, that candidates are ineligible for office if they "shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion" against the Constitution of the United States. It is unclear whether the provision applies to presidential candidates; it is even more unclear whether such a provision is "self-enforcing," meaning that an electoral official in any state can simply declare for himself whether a candidate has been an "insurrectionist."

Nonetheless, the court said it is qualified to determine who is guilty of "insurrection" under the 14th Amendment without any criminal case or impeachment case. And the court says that "the events of January 6 constituted an insurrection and... President Trump engaged in that insurrection."

On a legal level, this is extraordinarily strained. Section 3 was designed to prohibit those who had served in the Confederacy from holding public office in the United States. The Confederacy, as we know, was an armed rebellion against the United States that ended in the deaths of some 600,000 Americans on both sides. Trump, by contrast, made a series of legal challenges to the election, all of which were denied, and then claimed -- on the basis of specious legal reasoning -- that the vice president could simply throw out electoral slates that had already been certified. He then called for his supporters to protest at the Capitol building and a riot broke out. This hardly qualifies as an "insurrection," let alone proving that Trump engaged in one. Trump, let us not forget, has not been charged with insurrection. He was not even convicted in his impeachment trial over Jan. 6.

Yet the Colorado State Supreme Court says it can bar him from electoral eligibility anyway. This is, to put it mildly, unbelievably dangerous.

It sets up a perverse set of incentives for both political sides.

Trump can and will rightly claim that lawfare has been used to thwart the workings of democracy -- that a slate of judges in any state can simply negate the will of the voters, and that President Joe Biden's own Department of Justice has been attempting to drag him into court before the election in order to stymie his shot at the presidency.

Meanwhile, the Colorado Supreme Court has now set up expectations for Democrats across the country that Trump can be legally barred from the presidency -- and when the Supreme Court overturns that Colorado Supreme Court ruling, they will claim that the Supreme Court itself is rigged.

All of which means that 2024 is going to be the most insane and ugly presidential election in American history. And that's saying a lot, since 1968 and 2020 are both years that existed. Under what circumstances, precisely, would Democrats accept the result of a Trump election? Under what circumstances, precisely, would Republicans accept the result of a Biden election?

The weaponization of the legal system creates an all-consuming fire, burning everything in its path. There is simply no 2024 result likely to result in anything but complete - and perhaps violent -- chaos at this point.

SNARKY McSNIDE SAYS,

Merry Christmas Ukraine

Relax Ukraine, the Biden administration has got your back, just like Israel has.

Putin thinks he has won. Ukraine is out of bullets. Nobody in our fair land seems to know where to find any more. Half of our states have outlawed guns because people get hurt. By that logic, giving bullets to Ukraine means someone is going to get hurt and we don't want that on our consciences do we?

Mexico's invasion is getting worse. 12,600 in a single day. If Ukraine could get that many of it troops across the Dnipro River it could win the war in no time.

DeSantis should drop out, he is wasting his and our time. Just think, he could be busy signing another state law to take away our right to know what is going on. This time for his buddies in the public storage and towing industries.

This is not an endorsement of Tweety, the country would be better off if he was also out of the picture. (In Colorado, that is what a clown judge is trying to do)

Somebody came up with a list of small towns in each state that are the safest to live in. Drum roll, Clash of cymbals, in Florida it is Oviedo! How about that? Must be the chickens.

The start of the holiday season is found everywhere in late November and early December. With the weather growing colder, the hustle and bustle of shoppers, decorations all over and- wait, what is that noise? The one noise that many would say truly marks the start of the holiday season: Mariah Carey. The ever so familiar riff that starts off one of her most popular songs, "All I Want For Christmas Is You," can be heard everywhere by the time Thanksgiving ends. However, let's break the ice on Mariah Carey, is she really the voice of the season?

From before 1946, up until "The Christmas Song" was sung by Nat King Cole, classic Christmas songs, which can still be heard today, such as "O Holy Night," "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen" and "O Christmas Tree" ruled the season. Well known artists such as Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra, shaped the mold of the popular genre we now anxiously wait all year to hear. Now seasonal listeners are more likely to hear modern tunes such as "Santa Tell Me," "Last Christmas" and "Mistletoe." Listeners are able to choose what era of Christmas music they hear as technology modernizes, so many choose a mix of old and new carols to get them into the holiday spirit. However, overplayed songs don't even begin to reach the levels of insanity that "All I Want For Christmas Is You" has reached.

Due to its popularity, the song sounds great during the holidays, but hearing it played so much before December started left it with a bitter taste for me. After releasing a video of her melting out of a block of ice once the clock struck midnight on Nov. 1, Carey announced it was officially time to start the Christmas season. I found this to be a bit exhausting, as Halloween had quite literally ended minutes before, and there was still one more major holiday to go before Christmas.

This over popular song is a great example of a perfectly good song or artist that has been overplayed, many find it hard to listen to. This has been seen frequently in modern pop culture and is just one of the many songs abused by consumerism. I won't deny the tune is catchy but after hearing it five times a day, it begins to drive the holiday spirit out of the song.

In short, the classic Christmas songs will always remain favorites for many, and soon Carey's song will become one too. "All I Want For Christmas Is You", which I admit is quite good, was taken to extreme levels this season that we have not seen a Christmas song taken to before. As people get ready for Christmas, we all need to remember what truly makes the holiday so special and overplaying a song is certainly not on that list.

Olivia Martinez shares about Trunk or Treat at Longwood Elementary

Olivia Martinez is a second grade student at Longwood Elementary. She loves swimming. Olivia used to live in New York and she wants to make the world a better place.

By Olivia Martinez
Student Correspondent -
Longwood Elementary School

Longwood Elementary had a Trunk or Treat event on October 27, led by teachers Ms. O'Neill and Ms. Bryce. At the Trunk or Treat, there were some decorated tables and trunks with staff members and people from the community passing out candy. One of my favorite trunks was the unicorn one. I was dressed up as a witch. My brother, my sister, my mom and my dad came with me. I saw my 1st and 2nd grade teachers. I got so much candy that night and had so much fun. I look forward to doing this next year, too!

Student Correspondent, John Aubrey on Veterans Day

By John Aubrey
Student Correspondent -
Longwood Elementary School

Heroes are everywhere. For me, they are all in the family. I would like to introduce you to a few Veterans that I know and interviewed. I hope they help you learn a little about our service members and to honor them!

Nicholas Aubrey is my Dad and a Veteran. He was a Marine and then an Army Soldier, his rank when he got out of the military was Sergeant. He grew up all over the world then served our Military in the Infantry. A quote that he would like to give to kids today is that "Life will take you to amazing places if you only have the courage to try."

He fought in the Iraq war and was deployed 2 times. His favorite part of being in the military was the brotherhood and protecting everyone he could.

Cecil Nance is my Grandad and a Veteran who retired from the North Carolina Army National Guard as a LT Colonel, he served the Army Corps of Engineers for over 30 whole years. He went on a lot of humanitarian missions all over the world, digging wells and building schools in third world countries. He also deployed until his last deployment during Operation Iraqi Freedom where he was medevaced out of combat after being injured by an IED. His favorite country to help was Honduras where the people named a road and school after him and Moldova. We call him "America's Monster" because he is like Frankenstein and has had a bunch of surgeries.

Peter Aubrey is my Papa and is a Veteran of the Marine Corps and United States Army. He was an enlisted Marine, and then retired as an Army Colonel. After he went to college and joined the Army as an Officer, he was promoted from Lieutenant to Colonel. He was a Green Beret and his favorite country to work in was Italy. He fought in 2 wars and saw 5 civil wars. One time he was sent to save everyone from an American Embassy that was attacked because of a war. He has worked or lived in every continent and subcontinent in the world except for Antarctica. His favorite country to live in is the USA!

Christopher Nance is my Uncle and is a Veteran who joined the Army in 2004 after he graduated and after 9/11 because he wanted to help to protect the good guys. He is still serving in the military today, his MOS or Job is 152H an Apache Helicopter Pilot his rank is a CW3/Chief Warrant Officer 3. He flies the coolest helicopter, a Boeing AH-64D Apache. His favorite part of his job was when he was deployed he got to make sure all the other Dads/Sons/Soldiers who were in trouble could make it home by stopping the bad guys from hurting them. He loves flying and protecting our country.

McKena Aubrey Oberdorfer is my Aunt and a Veteran from the National Guard. Her MOS was a 42 Alpha, or a Human Resource Specialist. The best part of her job was being able to help others and her state to make a plan in case something bad happened. Her favorite part about serving was being a part of the community she grew up in, and proving that girls can do anything! The National Guard is different from the Army sometimes because it is set in place to not only serve our country but also to help your home state in case there is a natural disaster or other serious event. McKena was sent to help with Hurricane Florence in New Bern, North Carolina when people lost their homes to flooding. She went from being an Army kid, to a soldier and then an Army wife. She says it was much easier since she already knew all of the code names and words.

Thank you for your service. We will never forget! A good quote honoring Veterans says, "We don't know them all, but we owe them all." Veterans day is a time to give thanks to all those who have served. I feel very lucky to have so many different and patriotic people in my family and I am proud of them and of all Military Members and feel safe knowing they did and are still protecting America.

A Promise Kept - Habitat Seminole-Apopka Home

A rainy day didn't stop family, friends, contractors and other well-wishers from coming out to celebrate a very unique Habitat Seminole-Apopka home.

Not only will the four-bedroom Sanford home be affordable for homebuyer O'Nekay Campbell and her four children, but the home was built by Wharton-Smith Construction Group, with 29 of its subcontractors donating their time, talent, materials, and even funds to make it happen. That is unique in that most Habitat homes are built with a major amount of grassroots volunteer time and talent.

This is the sixth year Wharton-Smith, a local construction manager and general contractor headquartered in Sanford, has built a home as part of HomeBuilders Blitz. Habitat Seminole-Apopka CEO Penny Seater expressed her appreciation that the company is dedicated to giving back to the community and that President and CEO Tim Smith cares so deeply about affordable housing. "Tim loves when he can turn the keys over to a family like O'Nekay's," she said.

Tim believes building affordable housing is a solution to the affordability issue. "This home may not be the total solution," he said, "but it does make an impact on the overall issue."

Grateful and excited, O'Nekay thanked Wharton-Smith and received her Bible and ceremonial key from Phil Klote, Vice President of KENPAT in Apopka. O'Nekay, a front desk supervisor for a neurology practice, has been driven by a singular goal for more than five years: to become a homeowner by the time she turned 30. Before Habitat, she experienced one heartbreak after another along the way and found she could not afford a decent home for her four children.

Still, she persevered, determined to honor both the goal and her promise to the children that they would live in a house by the end of 2023. She learned about Habitat, brought up her credit score to be accepted into the Homebuyers Program; worked hard to complete her sweat equity; and took the mandatory financial, home maintenance, and other classes...all the while raising four youngsters.

O'Nekay's journey was not easy, but well worth all the work. She is in her thirtieth year, the calendar still reads 2023, and her family is embarking on homeownership. That, of course, means a promise kept.

Longwood Elementary School - Kindergarten Character Book Parade

The Kindergarten Character Book Parade is a yearly fall event at Longwood Elementary School. During the parade, every Kindergarten walks through the halls and wears costumes of a book character. I saw many book characters such as Junie B. Jones, Fancy Nancy, Cinderella, and so much more! Every kindergarten also brought their books that had their character in them. Every book was different and unique. I sat in the carline hallway to watch the parade with my class. The kindergartners walked right past me. Some even gave me high-fives! It was very fun to watch all the kindergartners walk through the halls in their colorful costumes! I imagine that the kindergartners had a lot of fun too! This year, VPK and PreK ESE also joined the kindergartners in the parade. I asked Mrs. Brooks, a kindergarten teacher, about the parade. She said that the students read their books a lot of times at their houses and talked about the story with a family member. The students got a deeper understanding of the book by dressing up as a character from their books.

WSHS students perform for City on Veterans' Day

Student Correspondent - Winter Springs High School

On November 11, the City of Winter Springs celebrated Veterans' Day to honor those who have served in the United States Military with an hour-long presentation filled with speeches and music by various groups. These included multiple appearances of the students and staff of Winter Springs High School. The JROTC, Chorus, and Band of Gold all performed in the event before the many spectators.

The Veterans' Day presentation was initially supposed to be at the veterans memorial in the town center, but due to poor weather conditions it was moved to City Hall. This led to the Band of Gold only sending in Eliana Jerez, a senior trumpet player, to perform. Despite this, the presentation ran smoothly and was still very meaningful to those in attendance.

The event began with an invocation by a local pastor which was followed up by the presentation of the colors. The presentation of colors was done by members of the Winter Springs High School JROTC, and members of the Chorus sang "The Star-Spangled Banner." The musical presentations continued with members of Rainbow Elementary playing violin for the audience.

The City of Winter Springs added a special part to this year's Veterans' Day Tribute. They honored a "Hometown Hero." The "Hometown Hero" title is awarded to a local veteran from within the Winter Springs community. This year Capt. Laurel Ross was selected for the role. Her eight years of service as a pilot earned her the Senior Army Aviator badge, the Airborne badge and the Air Assault badge. After being nominated by a friend she was presented with the award and gave a speech at the tribute.

Following the speech, a moment of silence was held to remember those who have passed away serving in the military. Then, Jerez performed "Taps," to end the tribute. Jerez, having come from a military family and knowing the significance of "Taps" stated, "I think for those who have lost a loved one who served in the military, it touched them." She continued, "'Taps' is typically held for those who have served specifically, at funerals and other memorials in memory of veterans who have passed."

The history and meaning of this presentation and holiday is intended to honor and thank those who have served and their families. The students and staff of Winter Springs High School helped to show their appreciation for veterans.

Student Correspondent on Snowball Madness

John Aubrey is a 3rd grade student at Longwood Elementary School. He is nine years old. He enjoys reading, writing, and playing sports.

By John Aubrey

Student Correspondent - Longwood Elementary School

Every year for Christmas, my family and I have a few special traditions.

- Snowball Festival in FLORIDA!
- Ice Sculpture in a Giant Hotel
- Decorating the tree, loud Christmas Music
- Jack from Nightmare Before Christmas moves on his own
- Presents Christmas Eve & Christmas Day
- Gingerbread houses
- Nonas Christmas Party
- Stockings stuffed huge
- How we open Christmas presents

Every year my mom, my step dad, my brothers and I go to a snowball festival that is in the middle of Florida. I could never understand HOW they got the snow to hot Florida, but then I found out that they bring in fake snow and keep it super cold. We get to make snowballs and throw them to and at other kids. Sometimes we get to make snow forts. This is one of my favorite events.

The next fun event we always get to go to is ICE! At Gaylord Palms. They create cool Ice Sculptures and keep them in freezing temperatures (to be exact 9_ degrees!). We get to walk around and see the beautiful creations. Finally we can play "wait look is that snoopy"?! Because this year is Snoopy, which is super cool and is one of my Grandpa's favorite characters.

Next is picking a tree. I love doing this at my mom's house for a real tree, and getting out the artificial tree at my dad's house. We get to decorate the Christmas tree. At both of my homes, we put on super loud Christmas Music. "Oh what's that smell? Is that the smell of cookies baking? YAY!" We eat our cookies and drink eggnog "WAIT did Jack from nightmare before Christmas just move?" At my moms house, I have Jack from Nightmare Before Christmas and at my dad's house we have Elf on the Shelf.

Oh Wait, I can't forget that it's time for Nona's Christmas Party! We get to the party and make Gingerbread men but now it's time to sing some Christmas Carols! After that, we make some custom Christmas Ornaments. We usually put glitter in the ornaments. Now, we help Nona decorate her tree and make some chocolate chip cookies. All of my cousins come and we have fun together. At both of my houses, we make Christmas cookies and gingerbread houses. Yeah! It's time to make Gingerbread houses. We get the houses and start building. Wait.. Where did the white frosting go? "Hug! Jack, You have to give us that frosting back!"

At my dad's house, we have a big celebration on Christmas Eve and we get to open some presents, from youngest to oldest; which means I normally get to go first. My dad has a lot of family in NC, but when they come down or we go up there, we get to have a tower of presents from my grandparents!

At mom's, when my brothers and I wake up and eat breakfast, we try to guess our presents. It's a game of "this one's heavy, this one's light." We look at our stockings and they are stuffed huge. Opening presents is fun, but it's more fun to spend time and to make presents for each other. It's not about the presents under the tree; it's about the people around the tree.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH:

Fatal Episodes of VFib Require an AICD Implant

By Dr. Keith Roach

DEAR DR. ROACH: I'm an 88-year-old female who has been diagnosed with ventricular fibrillation (VFib). My cardiac electrophysiologist, who implanted a conventional pacemaker four years ago, has noticed several episodes of VFib (up to 30 seconds, read via a bedside monitor). They recommend replacing the current pacemaker with a combo pacemaker and defibrillator. I wonder about the history/success of this device. -- C.R.

ANSWER: Most people have heard about atrial fibrillation (AFib), which is a common, chaotic electrical condition of the top chambers of the heart. Without regular electrical input from the atria to the ventricles, the ventricles beat irregularly, but blood flow from the heart still remains adequate. By contrast, VFib is a chaotic movement of the lower chambers, and the heart does not pump blood during VFib.

Within a short time, 10 to 30 seconds at most, the brain will not have enough oxygen to keep you conscious. Unless VFib is rapidly treated or stops by itself (which is rare, but happened to you), VFib is fatal.

A survivor of VFib definitely benefits from an automatic implantable cardioverter-defibrillator (AICD). Nowadays, they also have the ability to act as a pacemaker; they recognize and immediately provide a shock during episodes of VFib.

AICDs first became available when I was in medical school during the 1980s, but current models are a huge improvement since they are smaller and last longer. The evidence is strong that people at a high risk for a "malignant" arrhythmia like VFib live longer with an AICD than those who are only treated with anti-arrhythmic drugs. The rate of sudden cardiac death is reduced by about 50%. You are very lucky and should get this recommended device as soon as possible. They are common and effective.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual questions, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu

MOMENTS IN TIME

* On Dec. 18, 1966, Dr. Seuss's popular book "How the Grinch Stole Christmas" was made into an animated TV special narrated by well-known horror movie star Boris Karloff, who also provided the voice of the titular character, and shown for the first time on CBS.

* On Dec. 19, 1942, American fighter pilot Eddie Rickenbacker was pulled out of the Pacific Ocean after being lost at sea for 22 days. He and six other men would have starved to death if they hadn't caught and eaten a seagull. Rickenbacker was on a special mission in the South Pacific when he went missing.

* On Dec. 20, 1990, the Population Crisis Committee declared Lagos, Nigeria the worst city in the world in which to live, with the top-ranked cities listed as Montreal, Melbourne and Seattle-Tacoma. Half of Lagos' homes lacked water and electricity, and only one person in 100 owned a telephone. The city also had a density of 5.8 persons per dwelling.

* On Dec. 21, 2007, Britain's former prime minister Tony Blair left the Anglican Church to become a Roman Catholic. The cardinal who led the service to welcome him said he was "very glad" to do so, but controversy remained on whether the conversion was in pursuit of the European Union presidency.

* On Dec. 22, 1945, broadcast journalist Diane Sawyer was born in Louisville, Kentucky. Before landing at CBS in 1978, she was a White House press aide during the Richard Nixon administration and later assisted Nixon with his memoirs. At one point she was the highest-paid woman in American TV news.

* On Dec. 23, 1954, Dr. Joseph E. Murray and several other surgeons performed the first truly successful human kidney transplant, between identical twin brothers, at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston, Massachusetts.

* On Dec. 24, 1828, eggnog riots began at the U.S. Military Academy in West Point, New York, in what was also known as the Grog Mutiny. The disturbances were sparked by cadets' copious consumption of eggnog made with smuggled whiskey and lasted until the next day.

gun was displayed. When deputies began arriving on scene, the suspect drove at one and fled from another who attempted a traffic stop. A deputy deployed stop sticks on the fleeing vehicle, deflating the driver's side tires. The suspect, identified as Dempsey Hadley, 56, was still able to drive at slow speed to his home at 3230 Whitehorse Ct. Deputies conducted a felony stop on the vehicle, but Hadley ignored their commands and refused to come out.

According to Volusia Sheriff Mike Chitwood, Hadley was telling deputies that he expected a pardon from President Joe Biden.

When deputies approached to remove Hadley from the vehicle, Hadley fired.

Deputies retreated and Hadley remained in the vehicle refusing to come out. Hadley was seen setting fires inside the cab of the truck.

Deputies were able to safely evacuate the suspect's son and a dog from his house.

Resources deployed to the scene included negotiators, SWAT, K-9s, drones and Air One along with Fire/EMS staged in the area.

SWAT used the VSO Bearcat vehicle to reposition Hadley's truck and block it from fleeing, pushing it into the garage. He exited the truck and entered the attic. A short time later, smoke became visible from the house, followed by flames, which engulfed the upper floors of the home.

Hadley still refused to surrender as negotiations continued. He emerged onto a second-floor balcony, which SWAT first approached with the VSO Rook and then with a boom on the Bearcat to dismantle the balcony and bring Hadley to the ground, away from the burning house.

Hadley was taken into custody on the ground and treated on scene for his injuries, then transported to an area hospital. He is being charged with 3 counts of attempted murder of a law enforcement officer, fleeing or attempting to elude law enforcement, and petit retail theft.

Chitwood said Hadley is a 30-year employee of the City of DeLand. Hadley's family told deputies that he had been acting erratically for the past six months.

"We could be burying one of my men today," said Chitwood. "Through the grace of God, we're not."

female told police that when she was 14-years-old her and Johnson had a sexual relationship, which he told her to keep a secret. Years later, after the girl moved away to college, Johnson continued to harass her. When she admitted the relationship to a friend, her friend explained that the relationship was inappropriate.

The girl told police that, at the time, she did not realize the relationship was wrong and Johnson always told her, "It's only wrong if you think it's wrong, and as long as you're OK with it."

Additionally, police learned that during the course of their relationship an anonymous tip had been filed about Johnson and his relationship with the girl.

Records show that Johnson has lived in Orlando most of the time, but at that time he was living in the apartment complex at 410 E.14th St. in Sanford.

A warrant was issued for Johnson's arrest Dec. 7 and the following day he was located at his home in Orlando by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement and the Seminole County Warrants Unit where he was taken into custody.

Johnson was booked into the Seminole County jail and charged with 10 counts of sexual assault by custodian sexual battery victim between 12 and 18 years of age.

Johnson is a registered sex offender and was arrested in Citrus County in 2010 during an undercover sting operation where he travelled from Orlando to have sex with a minor.

Through the current course of the investigation, Sanford Investigators believe there could be additional victims, and are asking anyone that could have possibly been victimized by Johnson, or has any information pertaining to this case, to contact the Sanford Police Department.

Anyone with information related to this case should contact the Sanford Police Department or CrimeLine at 800-423-TIPS (8477) or visit www.crimeline.org. Calls made to CrimeLine remain anonymous, and tips to CrimeLine that lead to solving felony cases are eligible for a cash reward of up to $1,000 dollars.

National Signing Day

Seven locals commit to Division 1 football programs

By Dean Smith
Herald Staff

Seminole County high school football players continue to make their names known around the United States and Wednesday was no different as seven area products signed National Letters of Intent with Division I programs on NCAA Fall National Signing Day.

And four inked their John Hancock with prominent programs as Oviedo's Tye Hylton committed to Florida State, Seminole had Preston Watson put smiles on Duke fans faces and Chasen Johnson continuing the pipeline to UCF and Lake Mary's Joshua Raymond taking his talents to Vanderbilt.

The other three _ Oviedo's Jackson LaTour and the Seminole duo of Na'Koma Simpson and Karson Siqueiros-Lasky _ are headed to Mid-Major programs McNeese State, Western Carolina and Pennsylvania, respectively.

And that's not to mention a record-setting signing day for the UCF program as in addition to Johnson, the Knights had 18 agree to relocate to Orlando in a class that qualifies as the highest-ranked in UCF history: 27th by ESPN (second in the Big 12, seven four-star players), 30th by Rivals (second in the Big 12, seven four-star players), 32nd by 247Sports (third in the Big 12, eight four-star players) and 33rd by On3 (second in the Big 12, five four-star players).

- Here is the list:
- Lake Mary High School
 - * Joshua Raymond, offensive lineman, Vanderbilt.
 - Oviedo High School
 - * Tye Hylton, offensive lineman, Florida State.

UCF Letter-of-Intent Signees
(In a release from John Heislner, UCFAA) Continuing his philosophy of convincing the best football players in Central Florida to stay close to home at UCF, Knight head coach Gus Malzahn watched as 10 Florida products headlined an 18-member class of top high school players who signed national letters of intent today and will enroll at UCF.

Ten individuals are ranked as four-star players by at least one rating service: running back Frankie Arthur (247Sports, ESPN, On3), linebacker Qua Birdsong (ESPN, Rivals), quarterback EJ Colson (ESPN), offensive lineman Waltclaire Flynn (247Sports, Rivals, ESPN, On3), tight end Kylan Fox (247Sports, Rivals, ESPN, On3), running back Stacy Gage (Rivals), defensive back Jakob Gude (Rivals, On3), defensive back Jaylen Heyward (Rivals, On3, ESPN), defensive back Christian Peterson (ESPN) and wide receiver Bredell Richardson (Rivals). Flynn was named a 2023 MaxPreps second-team All-America lineman.

Ten players come from Florida, four from Georgia, two from Alabama and one each from South Carolina and Texas. Three players — Jordyn Bridgewater (Winter Garden West Orange), Chasen Johnson (Sanford Seminole) and Jashad Presley (Orlando Dr. Phillips) — come from the "State of Orlando."

The class includes five defensive backs, three wide receivers, two running backs, two linebackers, two offensive linemen, two quarterbacks,

Orlando's premier downtown sports and entertainment destination renamed Kia Center

Special to the Herald

ORLANDO — Orlando's premier downtown sports and entertainment destination — and home of the National Basketball Association's Orlando Magic — will be renamed the Kia Center.

On Wednesday (December 20), the Amway Center took on the new name. Kia America's partnership will include new indoor and outdoor signage, the installations of EV charging stations, Kia vehicle displays and the Kia Terrace, a hospitality lounge for the enjoyment of automotive enthusiasts and sports and music fans.

"The Orlando Magic and Kia America have been proud partners for several years and we share in the excitement of Kia's success and growth," said Magic CEO Alex Martins. "We look forward to our expanded partnership which allows Kia to drive its brand forward and deliver a direct, impactful message to our fan base and beyond using the power of the NBA. Kia also becomes a 'Champion of the Community' partner and we look forward to working together to positively impact the Central Florida community."

ple of the strength of our partnership and provides us a year-round sports and entertainment platform for our fans," said Sean Yoon, President and CEO, Kia America. "This facility is a spectacular asset for those who call Central Florida home and for those who visit this global tourist destination. Coupled with our naming rights of the Kia Forum in California, we now stretch from coast to coast."

UCF women bounce back

Knights ease past Morgan State, 67-41, improve to 9-1 on season

By Dean Smith
Herald Staff

ORLANDO — "What a difference a day makes, 24 little hours."

That classic song described perfectly the back-to-back games played this week by UCF women's basketball team.

After a dreadful shooting performance (23-for-68 from the field — 33.8-percent, 10-for-16 from the free throw line — 62.5-percent, and 2-for-15 from 3-point range — 13.3-percent) in a 1-point (59-58) loss to Florida Atlantic on Monday, the Knights overcame another slow start to wrap up their non-conference schedule by emphatically defeating the Morgan State Bears, 67-41, at Addition Financial Arena Tuesday afternoon to ending the non-conference portion of the schedule with a 9-1 record.

The hosts ended the game hitting 23-of-42 (54.8-percent) shots from the floor, including 7-of-13 (53.9-percent) from beyond the arc, and an impressive 14-for-16 (87.5-percent) at the charity stripe.

Coming off of a deceiving 18-point effort (just 7-for-20 from the floor and 3-for-6 from the free throw line) against FAU, UCF leading scorer Kaitlin Peterson was more like herself as she poured in a game-high 20 points, going 7-for-13 from the floor, including 5-of-8 on three pointers.

No one else netted double figures in scoring for the Knights, but Mya Burns, Laila Jewett, Taylor Gibson and Khyala Ngodu each contributed eight points and Jayla Kelly added seven points as nine of the 11 home players that appeared in the game scored.

Jewett was a catalyst for the team, tallying six assists, three rebounds and a steal to go along with her eight points. The 5-foot-10 junior guard leads the team with 38 assists, averaging 3.6 assists per game.

Gibson and Ngodu were standouts off the bench, combining for 16 of the 24 points recorded by the reserves.

Normally high-scoring Achol Akot was held in check by the Bears, only getting off two shots from the floor and not scoring, but the 6-foot-1 freshman still controlled the backboards with 11 rebounds and also had three assists and a blocked shot before fouling out.

The contest also featured the season and UCF debut of Mary McMillan, a senior point guard, who had been out with an injury since transferring in from UNC-Wilmington. The Apopka native didn't score, but she showed a lot of ball-handling skills and hustle, dishing off four assists to go along with a rebound and a blocked shot in 17 minutes of action.

Morgan State (8-5) started off the matchup with the first basket of the game, a jumper in the paint, while the Knights had two turnovers and a missed layup before Peterson knocked down the first of back-to-back 3-pointers on consecutive possessions.

UCF would not score again for three minutes, but the defense also kept the Bears off the board as well, holding the guests scoreless for 3-1/2-minutes and eventually stretching the run to 11-0, to make the score 11-2 with 4:16 remaining in the first quarter.

Following a media timeout, a shift in momentum favored the Bears as they netted eight straight points to cut UCF's lead to one, 11-10, with 45-seconds to play in the opening frame. The Black and Gold tacked on a layup from Ngodu with 22 seconds left, to finish the first period leading by three, 13-10.

As the second quarter began, Morgan State closed to within one point twice, 13-12 and 15-14, sandwiching a layup and a jumper around a UCF layup. A shooting foul on the Bears, their first of the game, sent Kelly to the line and she hit both of them, pushing the lead back to three (17-14) with a little under eight minutes to play in the half.

Kaitlin Peterson (No. 3) had a monster day with a game-high 20 points and two steals, while Taylor Gibson (No. 15) and Laila Jewett (No. 0) led a group of four UCF players with eight points each as the Knights eased past Morgan State on Tuesday.

Moments later, the visitors tied the game with a three-pointer, 17-17, but the Knights answered by scoring 13 of the next 15 points, including making all four free throws attempts, to take an 11 point lead into halftime, 30-19.

The UCF bench did a lot of the damage, scoring 12 points, six of which came from Gibson.

The Black and Gold came out of the break with a 9-4 run to extend the double-digit lead to 16, 39-23, on a Peterson three-pointer. But the Bears rallied with an 8-0 run to close the gap to eight points twice, 39-31 and 41-33, with 2:30 left in the third quarter before the Knights netted the final six points of the period to expand the advantage back to double digits, 47-33.

After the Bears scored the first three points of the fourth quarter, UCF took over, pouring in 20 of the final 25 points, including a 10-0 run that gave the hosts a 25 point lead, 63-38, with 1:38 to play. Peterson dropped in six consecutive points during the run, including her fifth three-pointer on the day.

Defensively, the Black and Gold were outstanding as well, holding Morgan State to just 28 percent (16-for-57) from the field, pulling down 29 defensive rebounds, forcing 17 turnovers and blocking three shots.

The score could have been much worse if the Bears' scrambling defense hadn't forced 22 turnovers, which led to 14 steals.

After a break for the Christmas holiday, UCF will kick off its inaugural Big 12 Conference schedule by heading to Norman, Oklahoma, to face the Oklahoma Sooners at the Lloyd Noble Center on Saturday, December 30, at 2 p.m. The Knights will host their first Big 12 game at Addition Financial Arena on Wednesday, January 3, 2024, at 6 p.m. with Oklahoma State comes to Orlando.

STETSON WOMEN

The Stetson University women's basketball team (4-9) split a pair of games at The J. Ollie Edmunds Center on Tuesday Wednesday in the Holiday Hoops Classic.

In a game that saw three lead changes, the Hatters, who were led in scoring by Anna Kunzweiler, could not complete a comeback after trailing North Carolina A&T (4-5) on Tuesday by as many as 10 points in the final minute before falling 57-54, ending their undefeated streak at home.

The hosts, who led by eight at half-time and by a point after three quarters of play, nearly sent the game to overtime as a pair of three-pointers from Kunzweiler brought Stetson within striking distance in the closing seconds.

Kunzweiler led the Hatters for the second time this season after making her second career start. The freshman guard went 5-of-10 from the field, 4-of-9 from the perimeter, to finish with 14 points, tying a season-high for her. Khmya McNeal filled out the stat sheet in the start, tallying 11 points, five rebounds, three assists and a block and a steal to finish her afternoon.

Jamiya Turner concluded her day with six points and two rebounds as she is now just two boards away from the 500 career mark.

Off the bench, Quentarra Mitchell provided a spark with eight points, five rebounds and three assists.

Stetson rebounded nicely on Wednesday afternoon, closing out the Holiday Hoops Classic with a 78-62 victory over Valparaiso.

McNeal spearheaded the Hatters' offensive charge with 17 points and three assists, shooting efficiently at 5-of-8 from the field, with three successful shots from beyond the arc.

Jordan Peete contributed 12 points to the victory, with five of those coming from successful free throws. This marked her seventh game with double-figure points.

Turner and Jaelyn Talley both concluded the day with 10 points each, with Turner slightly edging out Talley with eight rebounds compared to Talley's six. Turner also added four assists to her final stat line.

Mitchell rounded out the Hatters' double-digit scorers, contributing 11 points off the bench along with seven rebounds.

Stetson will return to action on Saturday, December 30, when they host Flagler for their final non-conference match of the season at the historic J. Ollie Edmunds Center. The game will be streamed on ESPN+ with live stats available at gohatters.com.

 Opening lead — queen of hearts.

There are many hands where the outcome is a foregone conclusion because declarer has the overwhelming balance of strength. But there are also many other hands where skill is the sole determining factor.

Take this case where West leads the queen of hearts against three notrump and South must exercise great care to get home safely. Let's say he wins the heart with the king and plays the Q-K-A of diamonds, hoping for a 3-3 split. West discards a heart on the third round, and South has to choose between persevering with diamonds or playing for a 3-3 spade division.

Either way, three notrump goes down. South fails by sheer force if he tries the spades first, and he also fails if he plays a diamond to establish dummy's fifth diamond as a trick. In the latter case, East wins the diamond and returns the jack of clubs, allowing the defense to collect four club tricks and put the contract down one.

However, South can make three notrump by crossing to dummy with a spade at trick two and leading a low diamond, intending to play the eight if East follows low.

In the actual case, West wins the eight with the ten but is helpless. With West on lead, there is no way the defenders can collect four club tricks. At the same time, South is sure to score three spades, two hearts and four diamonds to finish with nine tricks.

In effect, declarer shapes his play so as to avoid losing a diamond trick to East. By adopting this approach, declarer makes it impossible for the defense to score four club tricks before he can establish and score four diamond tricks.
