So durable and strong it can pull a car or carry 140kg (that's the weight of an adult), never again will you have to deal with cable tangling, exposed wiring, broken charge connections, discoloured casing and general cable doom and gloom: the FlexLine has you covered.

ARAMID FIBRE REINFORCED

We ensure our products are engineered to withstand on-the-go lifestyles, so you don't have inconvenient breakages, nor have to waste time and money in repurchasing, and we make them using best-in-class materials. Our FlexLine cable is reinforced with an aramid fibre braid, the same material used in riot shields, making it incredibly tough and reliable, day after day, for even the most extreme of lifestyles.

10,000+ BEND TEST

Cables often break at the heads. Here at Mous we've engineered the FlexLine to solve this problem without creating any additional bulk. Our lightning and USB heads have been twice clamped to ensure they remain secure to the cable and, in testing, these heads withstood an impressive 10,000 bends

HIGH SPEED CHARGING

The FlexLine has been Apple MFi certified and works with most iPhones, iPads and iPods. The rigorous quality assurance checks that a product has to go through to become MFi certified ensure you that they can safely and quickly charge your Apple devices. The FlexLine provides quality and durability, whilst retaining the refined Mous design: a good-looking product that lasts.
