

Bayhealth Medical Center

February 16, 2021 · 🌐

As a member of the Delaware Perinatal Quality Collaborative (DPQC), Bayhealth is participating in a campaign with the Division of Public Health (DPH) to raise awareness and promote the importance of completing the Pregnancy Risk Assessment Monitoring System (PRAMS) survey. The main component of the campaign is giving free PRAMS branded goodie bags to new moms at Bayhealth Hospital, Kent and Sussex Campuses. Each bag contains items for both mom and baby such as masks, onesies, and drinking cups. The information gathered from the PRAMS survey helps inform the care planned for mothers and babies in our communities. If you want to learn more, head to the newsroom on our website!

Mari Anne, Faith Dorio and 34 others

2 shares

Like

Comment

Share

Write a comment...

