

Reflect on your plan.

Use this section to reflect on your Learning Plan and evaluate changes to your practice. See the instruction sheet for what to consider. If you don't accomplish your goals this year, you can always carry them forward into your next Learning Plan.

My learning goal was to become more educated on Sepsis and to feel more confident in my skills when assessing for its signs and symptoms. I feel as if I have achieved this goal. Throughout this semester, I have been more diligent in recognizing my learning gaps. I have read many articles, textbooks and participated in class discussions regarding sepsis and I feel more confident and comfortable with my assessments on patients in my workplace. I also recognize the importance of diagnosing and treating sepsis in a quick manor as it can become deadly if not treated quickly.
