

Diane Munton - Natural Materials Artist

Artist, Diane Munton, creates beautiful and moving wood sculptures that are at once primal and modern. Diane makes them from the roots of various plants and only uses the dead roots, for she would never harm anything in order to create her art. Once these plants die, they are not finished gifting us with their beauty as Diane proves with her extraordinary work. Using her artistic intuition, she "hears" what the root wants to be and starts her creative process from there, adding natural elements such as crystals, geodes, crushed gems and beautiful dried butterflies from Indonesia. You, too, will intuit which of her works is just right for you. Check out her blog to read about her artistic process and how these amazing sculptures are made.
