

Her.

I thought I was immune to love,
I never quite fully grasped

the appeal of it controlling all your wants,
the desire for it to consume you.

I never understood it until I found her.
Quietly taking over me and surrounding herself in every thought,

in the deepest corners of my mind.

She turned the lights on within my soul
dominating my entire being

with her compelling nature,
She'll never slip from my embrace.

As she engulfs my mind and body she's showing me heaven in the deepest parts of hell.