Daily Difference with Diabetes and PRIME Wound Care

An integrated approach to helping patients heal

Industry-leading care for your patients with diabetes

People with diabetes are at increased risk for developing chronic wounds. At the same time, unstable blood glucose levels can slow or impede wound healing.

CenterWell Home Health® offers two clinical programs that can work hand-in-hand to support your patients with diabetes and chronic wounds.

Daily Difference with Diabetes

Daily Difference with Diabetes is recognized by the American Diabetes Association for Quality Diabetes Self-Management Education* and Support. This is the highest recognition in diabetes care, and we are the only national home health provider to earn it.

The program helps patients gain the skills they need to manage their condition independently and improve outcomes in healthy coping, balanced meals, medication adherence, physical activity, risk reduction, social effects and problem solving. Patients can expect improved A1c levels and lower 30-day ACH rates<sup>†1</sup>.

PRIME Wound Care

PRIME Wound Care is our science-based approach to the prevention, intervention and management of wounds. By combining specialized care with data-driven technology, we've reduced healing times by 35% and 60-day hospitalization rates by 4.5%.‡ Patients are treated by clinicians and a team of dedicated wound specialists. By conducting a comprehensive assessment of each patient's health, we can address existing wounds and underlying conditions that may impact recovery.
