

Subject line: Your Biggest Why

I'll tell you a secret, <their name>,

If you haven't heard yet how I started investing, I started in real estate with negative funds on my account. Call me insane, but even when I was broke, I decided to offer my time to someone so I can work for him for free. And that single decision I made, gave me that break into real estate investing and made it possible for the purchase of my very first deal.

Not telling you to do the same thing, what I am telling you right now is that... once you made that decision, go all in and you will become unstoppable, everything becomes possible!

So.. I wanna tell you something that I've never shared before... it was not all rainbows and butterflies for me. For over a decade of my investor life, I am so into it and made a very huge mistake. Ever heard of "work-life balance"? I knew it exists. However, for me, it was something that I kept missing for the past few years. And the reason why I am sharing this with you is that I don't want you to commit the same mistake as I did.

Whether you are:

...in your 9-5 job

...managing your own business

...getting started in investing as an entrepreneur ...or doing nothing (which I highly doubt)

There's one thing I wanted to remind you, know and always keep in mind your biggest why. Recently, I started having my family involved in my projects and I'm telling you... work becomes life and life becomes more meaningful as I get to share the journey with them. And whenever, I feel overworked or tired, their energy and enthusiasm rekindles the fire and just by seeing them reminds me of my Biggest WHY.

We all got different situations and I would love to hear your WHY as well. We might be the same... or I may be crazy.

What is your big why?
