CMU Department of Journalism to host Homecoming Reunion Reception

This homecoming, Central Michigan University's Department of Journalism is hosting a reunion reception in conjunction with CMU's 135th anniversary. The reception is from 12 p.m. to 3 p.m., Oct. 12 in the Terrace Room of the Bovee University Center.

All graduate classes from 1959 to 2024 are invited to attend this free event. Former departmental records show there are more than 1,200 alumni ranging from newspaper editors, owners of advertising firms or public relations firms, chief photographers and many other fields.

This is the first large-scale reunion the department has done. Department Chair, Lori Brost, is anticipating a large attendance.

"We already have replies from graduates ranging in age from 23 to 94," said Brost.

Alumna Lorrie Lynch, former editor of USA Today has already expressed her excitement to attend.

"Professor Bradshaw was one of the funniest, and yet at the same time, one of the most serious instructors I ever had," said Lynch, "I will never forget him. I learned so much in his classes. It will be good to see him."
