What would ChatGPT say about me:

Experienced Content Writer and Copywriter with a strong background in producing high-quality content across various platforms. Skilled in content creation, social media coordination, and project management with a focus on the HR and fintech industries. Proven ability to lead projects, collaborate with teams, and deliver engaging and effective content.

What I actually want to say:

Storyteller from a young age, wordsmithing has always been my driving force. From creating engaging content that resonates with audiences, to being able to get the message across when connecting Spanish and English speakers through interpretation, or even while publishing my first book. Language and the stories we can tell with it is where I know I can make an impact.
