Subject	Understanding Your Cellular Health

Hi [First Name],

Your health matters. We're offering you education about how your cells work—and why it's important.

Many people feel unwell even when standard tests look normal. This educational program explains why, and what you can do about it.

What You'll Learn:

- How your cells communicate and why this matters for your health
- Why you might feel unwell when lab results seem normal
- Evidence-based approaches to supporting your wellness
- How to work with your healthcare provider using this knowledge

This is education, not medical advice. Always talk with your doctor before making health changes.
