

Moon Glass Bowl

Its crackled texture is inspired by sgraffito, the Italian technique of hand-decorating picture frames in layers of gold leaf. (A fun fact to share at the table.)

Regalia Highball Glass

With this hand-painted glass, celebratory toasts feel just a little more inspired. (It makes a lovely votive holder too.)

A Few of Our Favorites

Complementing VIETRI's core collections of dinnerware, these special extras inspire a holiday meal shared the Italian way: slowly, generously, and with an appreciation for every moment.

Pastry Server

A special-occasion dessert calls for a server of equal extravagance. With a brushed-gold tip balanced by a matte, tapered handle, this utensil has a look that's positively decadent.

Napkins

These napkins are made from natural, machine-washable linen, so guests can dab without worry.

Sugar Bowl

A sugar bowl is essential to the after-dinner ritual of espresso and conversation. This piece is hand-shaped to recall Italian cheesemaking molds.

Bud Vase

Hibiscus blooms inspire the fluted silhouette, crafted from mouth-blown glass. The vase's small size means floral arrangements won't block the view of a face across the table.
