

Taste Innovation

North America

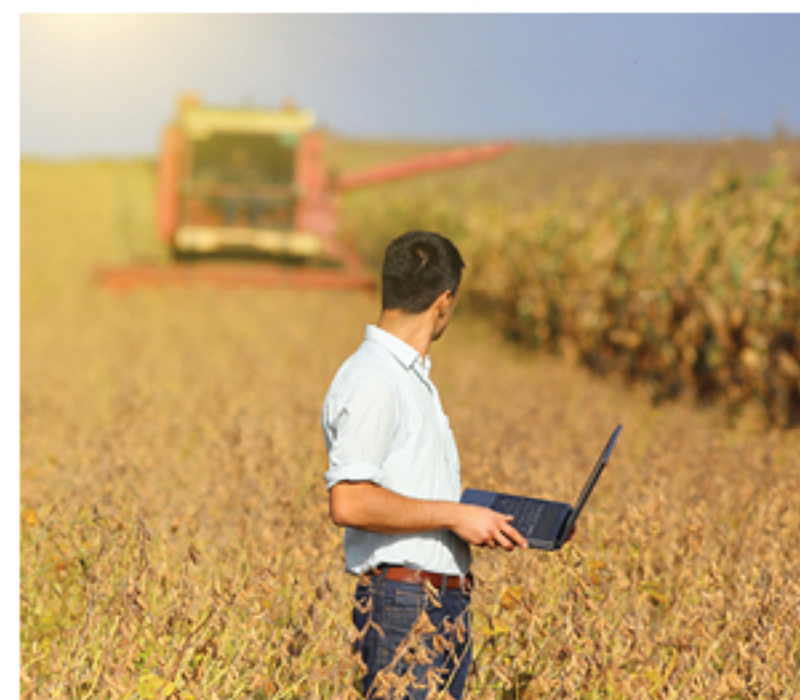

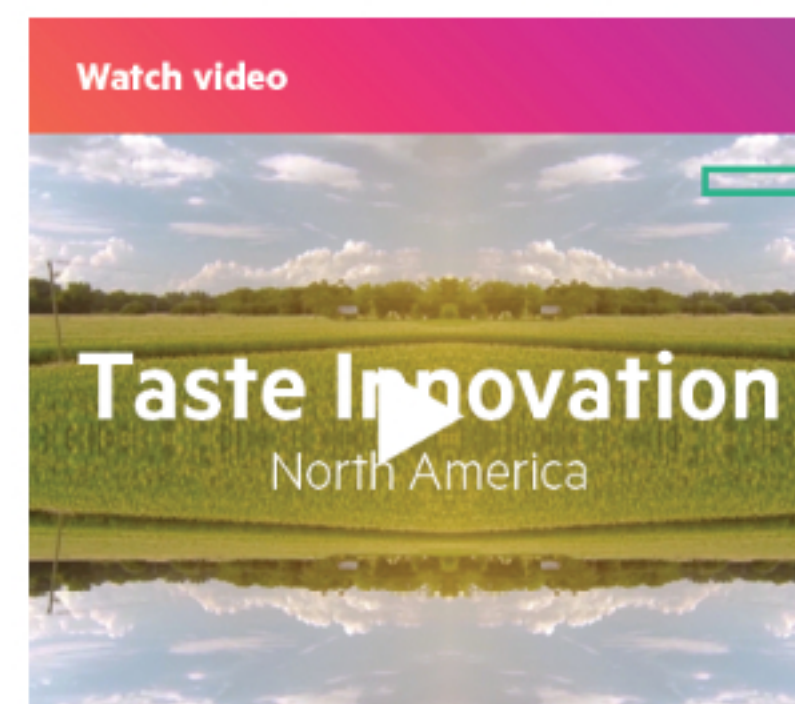

The right technology in the hands of the right people can make the world a better place to work and live.

That conviction is at the core of why Hewlett Packard Enterprise and Intel® have put their innovative solutions to work in helping to improve food security across North America.

Welcome to Taste Innovation North America

Over the course of this continent-spanning journey, you'll discover how the HPE Alletra 5000 hybrid flash array, VDI solutions from HPE, and the HPE Alletra dHCI data management platform, powered by Intel®-based technology, are accelerating innovation in business and in reducing hunger.
