BJ Tidrick of Kennewick took a wild ride to the checkered flag in the Montana 200 Saturday night at the Mission Valley Super Oval and came away a two-time winner.

Tidrick had planned a weekend of working in the garage, but his father called him Friday morning, offered his No. 21 car and urged him to head to Montana.

Tidrick and his team showed up at 5 a.m. Saturday. They missed Friday's qualifying, so he started 15th in the field of 17.

"We had problems all day," he said after the race. "We had an oil line failure, a rear end problem. We had stagger issues with our practice set of tires. Nothing went right, and then everything went right."

It was the third time he'd raced his father's car, and it broke down both the previous times.

Once Saturday's race got going, however, Tidrick quickly moved up through the pack and looked to have one of the top cars. Before it was all over, he found himself in the middle of the night's two biggest crashes.

On lap 71 Tidrick spun out in the infield during a multiple-car crash in turn 4 that knocked out Agni Howell of Kalispell, JD Udem of Frenchtown and Jeff Mullins of Naches, Wash.

Howell was the top qualifier Friday night, but he accepted an offer of $1,000 up front from race organizers to start at the back of the pack and make things more interesting. He had worked his way up to fifth before the crash ended his night.

A penalty following the lap 71 crash moved Dave Garber of Spokane to the back of the field. Garber had assumed the pole position prior to the race once Howell took the money and moved back.

Garber quickly worked his way back toward the front and was sitting fourth on lap 101 — the first lap following a 15-minute halftime pit break — when Tidrick and two others ahead of him got tangled up heading into turn 3. Tidrick's car spun 180 degrees, and he left the track backward as 1994 champion Cory Wolfe of Ronan smashed into the side of Alex Lessor of Kalispell. They had been the top three leaders before the crash.

"I got a really good jump on that restart and I thought, 'I'm not gonna have a lot of chances at Alex, so I'm gonna take this chance.' We had a good run on the outside and I had a bit of a lunge on him," Tidrick said after the race. "I knew I ran him tight but I thought I gave him enough room, and just a little bit of contact ..."

Tidrick was able to resume racing, as was Wolfe, who returned from the pit minus a front bumper, hood and both fenders. The crash ended Lessor's night, however. Tidrick and Wolfe moved to the back for the restart, and Garber took over the lead spot.

"I felt bad for Alex," Tidrick said. "I would have loved to battle it out with him."

Tidrick and Wolfe chased down Garber with the field narrowed to eight cars and a few minor yellow flags helping out along the way.

Tidrick reclaimed the lead following a restart with 60 laps to go, and it was essentially a two-car race from there with Wolf unable to keep pace in his badly damaged car.

Garber stuck to Tidrick's rear bumper the rest of the way but couldn't get by the 2005 champ. The closest he came was in the final corner, when the two collided, sending Tidrick into a spin for a sideways finish at the checkered flag.

Tidrick said after the race the car started becoming more difficult to control with about 20 laps to go and his steering issues led to the late spinout.

"I may have had a right front (tire) going down. ... I was just fighting it, fighting it, fighting it. Then, with about two to go, I lost power steering. It was all I could do to just hold on. I was trying to hold it onto the bottom (of the track) ... and I think Garber just got me enough to help go around.

"I think I'll go play the lottery tonight. I got lucky a couple of times."

Garber finished second, and Wolfe placed third.

Tidrick collected a check for $10,000 after winning the race, which was held at the Polson track for the first time. The Montana 200, established in 1991, had been held at Montana Raceway Park in Kalispell every year through 2019. The following spring operators announced the track was closing for good.

Mission Valley Super Oval is in its third season under new operators, Tony and CleAnn Udem of Frenchtown. The husband-and-wife team, and a hard working staff of extended family and friends, have made several improvements to the track since taking over. They expanded concessions, parking and on-site camping for this year's Montana 200 and erected several extra bleachers. The Undems didn't have an official attendance tally Saturday night, but both were sure it was likely the biggest event in the track's history.

"None of this is possible if the drivers and the fans don't show up," CleAnn said after Saturday's race. "We're just amazed by the turnout, and we really appreciate all the support.”
