Taking summer classes is a great way to get ahead (or catch up) on your college credits. If you've opted to take a few classes over the next few months, we've got some tips to make it a little easier!

- 1. Set aside time to get outside before or after classes. Go for a walk, read a fun book in a park, or meet a friend for coffee. That way you won't feel like you're missing out quite as much when you're stuck in a classroom on those beautiful, sunny days.
- 2. Find a good organization tool to keep track of your schedule. You can use your basic Google Calendar app or other planner apps for students to stay organized.
- 3. Eat well! Your brain works better when you give it the nutrients and water it needs, so don't skip breakfast on class days. Here are some quick and easy breakfasts you can throw together and even take to class with you.

With these tips in mind, we hope summer class life goes as smoothly as possible for you. You've got this!
