

The Ultimate Guide To Playing Online Baccarat

Are you a baccarat fan but unsure of how to beat the odds? Maybe you just need a little more knowledge! This popular table game has been a fan favourite among land-based and online casino players, and there is a lot about baccarat that you may not know.

From the different types of baccarat available to finding the right casino to play on, there are some easy ways you can increase your chances of winning. Luckily for you, we've compiled the ultimate guide that will tell you everything you need to know about the game so that you can take home more in the long run.

Let's start at the beginning

Baccarat isn't a new table game, it has actually been around from as far back as the 19th century. The French decided to develop a new way for people to gamble, and it was first released to the public in the 1847 book by Charles Van Tenac. It was initially referred to as Baccarat à Deux Tableaux and has since developed a wide range of other names depending on what type of game you're playing.

Who actually came up with the game isn't completely clear, and there is a lot of debate over the exact moment baccarat was created. However, all we need to know now is how exciting the thrill of the game is and the best way to play it.

What is online baccarat?

The most simple thing you'll want to know about this table game is what it actually is. Without knowing what online baccarat is, how could you possibly win it? In simple terms, baccarat is a card game played by people sitting around a table. The number of seats can range from seven to 14, and a dealer is also at the centre of the action.

When playing baccarat, only two hands of cards are dealt - the players and the bankers. There are three possible outcomes for each game you play, and this would be when either the player wins, the banker wins, or there is a tie.

Most of the time, the rules of baccarat are the same, however, there are different types of the game, and each has its own variations.

Types of baccarat

There are typically three types of baccarat found on online casinos:

Punto Banco

If you're browsing through the baccarat selections on an online casino, Punto Banco is the most common one you'll come across. It includes the two hands of the player and the banker, but several players can be a part of the tournament and bet on the outcome. The player chooses what side they want to bet on, and they wait to see if they come out on top.

Punto Banco is played with a 52-card deck, with each card assigned a specific value. Aces and other number cards are worth the same as their numerical value, whereas a ten and other face cards are each zero points.

The player and banker are each dealt two cards, and the total of each will be their score. They can then keep this value or request another card if they have less than five points.

Chemin de Fer

A different variation that you'll find on online casinos is the Chemin de Fer. If you're a fan of early James Bond films, then you'll recognise this version of baccarat. It involves both a banker and player again, but this time the player will take turns acting as the banker throughout the rounds. These two players may not be able to request another card as well.

When playing a round of Chemin de Fer, there need to be at least six players sitting around the table. Two hands are then dealt to the player and banker. The first banker will always be the player to the dealer's right, and they will then move around the table in a counterclockwise fashion.

Baccarat Banque

Last but not least, we have Baccarat Banque. Also known as Baccarat à Deux Tableaux, it is arguably the first version of baccarat ever played, dating back to the 19th century. This game uses three decks of 53 cards, unlike the other two variations. However, it does include some similarities to Chemin de Fer.

While the banker may be able to request a new card, the player has to stand during each round. People sit around this table with the banker sitting in the middle and the players at both the left and right-hand sides of the banker. One hand will be dealt to the players on the right and the other to the left. Then, a third hand is dealt to the banker, and the two sides compete against this hand instead of each other.

How online baccarat works

By simply learning about the different variations of baccarat, you probably already know how the game works a little bit. As we mentioned when describing Punto Banco, aces and other number cards will retain their numeric value, whereas the tens and face cards are worth zero points.

In most games, each round will start with the dealer providing two hands to the banker and the player. There will be four cards in total split between the two. Both the player and banker should both aim to bet on a hand that is closest to nine points. They can decide to stand with their original hand or request a new card to reach this value.

The first number will be dropped if the card total is above nine and moves into double digits. For example, if your card total equals 12, the one will be dropped, and your total will be two.

As the player or banker, you'll need to guess which hand will be closer to nine before you are dealt your cards. Therefore, this is a game of strategy and luck, as you cannot always predict what you will get.

Terms to remember

There are various terms you may hear when you're playing baccarat online. Here are three common ones you may want to familiarise yourself with before starting your first game so you are ahead of the other players:

- House edge: When you play a game of baccarat on an online casino, the casino will take a percentage of the profit from the wager you make. The house edge refers to this percentage, so you know how much you'll take home in general. For example, if a casino has a 2% house edge, it will receive $2 for every $100 you spend.
- Bet: Like with any other table game, you have to place bets with baccarat. There are typically three bets: the player, banker and tie bet. You will win if you have bet on the closest hand to nine or if there will be a draw between the player and banker.
- Croupier: This refers to the person who will be dealing the card during the game. While in most online baccarat games, a random number generator is used, this term will usually apply when you're playing with a live dealer.

Playing with a live dealer

Online casinos have been offering baccarat as one of their table games for as long as we can remember. However, this game was typically run by random number generators, and you'd be playing against bots instead of real people.

While you can go to a brick-and-mortar casino for the real thing, that isn't always an available option. That's why online casinos have started to introduce live dealer baccarat games where you can enjoy an authentic experience from the comfort of your own home.

Unlike the digital version of baccarat, you can now play with physical cards in real-time. You can watch a dealer on your PC or mobile who is being filmed using a webcam in a land-based casino. A chat feature also often allows you to interact with other players and the dealer itself. It gives you a more realistic way to enjoy the game while maintaining the thrill of a real-life casino.

Top tips for winning online baccarat

Want to take your baccarat game playing to the next level? Try one of these four tips, and you'll become a pro in no time.

Set a budget before playing

A common problem among baccarat players is that they go a bit overboard with their bets. They then end up spending more than anticipated, which isn't the best case if they have lost the last few hands.

Ensure you set a budget before you start playing a tournament so you know exactly how much you're willing to spend. For example, if you want to spend $100, then the moment you've spent this on all your bets, you walk away from the game. It may not necessarily help you win, but it ensures you don't lose too much.

Stay with the banker

If you're on a winning streak during a game of baccarat, then you want to keep this luck going until you lose. Don't pull out of your play until then. While winning the previous bet doesn't mean you'll win the next one, but it is a great betting strategy that will ensure you aren't too aggressive or pull out too early.

Therefore, you want to stay with the banker until your bet loses. By placing your bet on the banker instead of the player, you're increasing your chances of winning and this is a strategy used by seasoned players around the world.

Try to spot patterns

Again, no strategy is going to guarantee that you win, but there are some that will increase your chances. By keeping an eye on the scoreboard throughout the game and seeing the outcome of other players and what previous hands tend to be winning, then you can put together a strategy for when it is your term.

Baccarat, like other card games, is random. However, if you notice that the player has been winning a lot more than the banker for a while now, you can change up your betting order towards the banker or a tie. This is different to sticking with the banker, but it could work better for you.

Choose the right casino

If you want to bring home the most winnings when you're playing a game of baccarat, then you want to find an online casino with the best games and bonuses. Most casinos offer a welcome bonus for you to use on your first game, so it is always a good idea to look for one that will provide you with the most money to withdraw.

At the same time, you want to ensure that the online casino you'll be using is trustworthy. A good way to do this is to look up reviews and what other players have to say about their experiences. It will help you get the most out of your gaming experience and make sure you aren't scammed.

Finding the right casino

If you don't want to spend time looking through reviews to find the best online casino to play baccarat on, then don't worry. We have put the work in and found the top four casinos that offer the best bonuses, graphics, and withdrawal times.
