

Gadget fantastic

If you're after a high-tech holiday, check out our favourite gadgets and gizmos: soon you'll be saying "I can't live without it"!

▲ Go ape

Despite its space-age tentacles, the Gorillapod® isn't a creature from the latest sci-fi blockbuster, but a genius gadget to help you take better holiday snaps.

Simply attach your camera to this bendy beauty (like with a traditional tripod) and it'll twist around pretty much anything, gripping to tree branches, furniture, railings and even rocks.

The Joby Gorillapod® lets you take pictures from those hard to reach places, at any angle, opening up a whole new world of photo opportunities.

Let's twist again ▲

You've probably played it before, but Twister's just got a whole lot better, with this new Twister beach towel, which you can use on the soft sand on your holiday.

Roll the dice and get into position, this fun game for guys and girls is the perfect way to meet new friends; just make sure you're wearing a good bikini!

▲ Bunny business

If you can't live without Facebook or you need all the latest news while you're on holiday, this robotic rabbit will keep you in the loop.

Using WiFi technology, the Nabaztag bunny can give you the latest info from the Internet.

From reading you the news and your emails to giving weather forecasts and traffic reports, you can program the bunny to use glowing lights, move its ears and even belt out tunes to keep you up to date; and let's face it, it's kind of cute too!
