

We help communities and private sector operators increase revenue, reduce costs, and prepare for the future.

The ABC's of C&D

Are your franchise fees fair and competitive?

How much is your landfill worth?

How much C&D waste could you potentially source from your market area?

Want to improve the efficiency of your C&D landfill?

Wondering how to design a solid waste management system that encourages C&D recycling?

What does the future hold in terms of C&D collection and disposal regulations?

Need to establish or expand control over solid waste collection in your jurisdiction to stop losing revenue?

R. W. Beck can help you answer these questions.

HOW WE CAN HELP YOU:

- Development of Collection and Disposal Procurement Documents
- Policy Analyses
- Ordinance Development and Review
- Bid Evaluation
- Contract Negotiation
- Development of Special Assessments
- Contract Monitoring
- Franchise Fee/tip Fee Analysis
- Franchising
- Fee-based Recycling Incentives
- Generation and Compostion Studies
- Surveys and Data Gathering
- Market Analyses
- Appraisals and Valuations
- Acquisitions
- Financial Reviews
- Pro Forma Development
- Competitive Assessments
- Fleet Management Studies
- Strategic Planning
- Benchmarking
- Transportation Analyses
- Permitting

www.rwbeck.com

OUR CLIENTS INCLUDE

- Douglas, Arizona
- Huntsville, Texas
- Florida Department of Environmental Protection
- Martin County, Florida
- Minnesota Pollution Control Agency
- North Central Texas Council of Governments
- Sarasota County, Florida
- Citrus County, Florida

As a comprehensive review to identify economically viable ways to reduce, recycle and reuse C&D debris, R. W. Beck conducted detailed cost/benefit analyses, researched best management practices and identified funding sources for both local governments and the private sector.

Contacts:

Jonathan Burgiel
Orlando, Florida
(407) 422-4911
jburgiel@rwbeck.com

Scott Pasternak
Austin, Texas
(512) 450-0991
spasternak@rwbeck.com

Robert Craggs
Minneapolis, Minnesota
(651) 994-8415
rcraggs@rwbeck.com

