PLURALSIGHT now

Pluralsight Now gives you the most relevant tools, expert insights, and strategies to build the tech teams—and results—you need today.

Who should attend?
Tech, L&D, and HR executives and leaders

What's included?
Event sessions, a light breakfast, lunch, networking, and evening cocktails

What's the agenda?
This is a one-day regional event with a mix of keynotes, small breakout sessions, and intentional networking.

When and where can I attend?

June 6, 2024 | New York City, NY
Apella by Alexandria

September 12, 2024 | London, UK
Shangri-La The Shard

October 9, 2024 | Silicon Valley, CA
Levi's Stadium

What topics will you cover?
Topics such as talent mobility, developer academies, learning program best practices, transformation and change management, building your org's skills architecture, making the cloud work for you, and unlocking the potential of AI.

Refine your competitive edge
Live keynotes, breakout sessions, and interactive discussions with expert practitioners provide actionable insights you can use to close critical skills gaps, deliver better products and digital experiences, and stay ahead of today's (and tomorrow's) tech trends.

Bonus:
You'll also meet with Pluralsight execs and be first to hear about new product announcements.

Lead out in tech skill development
Connect with regional executives from companies of all sizes and industries. Listen in as tech leaders and innovators share real-world experience on how better tech skills can help your org do everything from achieve a successful cloud transformation to navigate the possibilities and potential risks of generative AI.

Prompt a new wave of innovation
Orgs are harnessing the power of AI to prompt a new wave of innovation. The secret? Investing in the people behind the prompts. Discover the tools you need to equip your team with the skills they need to make the most of AI tools and tech.

Transform the talent you have into the tech teams you need

Secure your spot today