PLURALSIGHT

Develop expertise for your agency's tech objectives

With Pluralsight Skills and A Cloud Guru

When it comes to delivering seamless and secure constituent services, it's not about having tech skills in one area. Your agency needs skills across areas like cloud, security, and data to ensure your digital strategy is sustainable in the long term and you can meet mission-critical objectives. That's where Pluralsight Skills and A Cloud Guru come into play.

Why Pluralsight Skills and A Cloud Guru

Our software platforms help you level up the technology proficiency of your agency employees across every tech domain. We've worked with organizations where:

- Hybrid cloud strategies require skills for both cloud and on-prem.
- Cloud engineers need a better understanding of security best practices to build and scale cloud-native applications.
- Teams of software developers need to master programming languages used to build in the cloud.

With Pluralsight, you can build practitioner and expert-level tech teams while reducing your overall spend on skill development.

Pluralsight customer wins

- Sage saw an 82% reduction in time to fix security vulnerabilities.
- CSAM Health Group increased speed to onboard new technologists by 200%.
- Thomson Reuters helped more than 250 engineers get cloud certified.
- ANZ Bank has an upskilling rate that's 200% faster than the standard financial industry average.

"The way we work is changing rapidly and we have to be ready. My advice is to make skilling as easy as possible. Empowering your employees to learn is the most important thing you can do for your organization's future success."

Saad Bashir
Former CTO, City of Seattle

Purpose-built content
Content designed for specific outcomes and domains, built by expert practitioners with strict content controls.

Immersive learning experiences
On-demand videos and hands-on labs for each domain, all through one provider to help teams learn, practice, and apply skills.

Measurement and guidance
Actionable skill insights with skill levels across your teams for every domain and every employee.

See your agency can do with Skills and A Cloud Guru.
Schedule a demo with an account executive today.