HOW WE HIRE

JOBS

Brilliance is everywhere, but opportunity is not

Our solutions narrow that brilliance vs. opportunity gap by empowering teams to build better and technologists to dream bigger. (Can we get a fist bump?)

Over the last decade, we've transformed the tech skill development market. And we're not stopping there. We've set our sights on new competitive landscapes and solutions that meet customer needs in bold, groundbreaking ways. We're on a mission to advance the world's technology workforce—and that motivates us on the daily.

Sounds good, right?

Your potential + our opportunity = Unparalleled growth

Our culture of autonomy, accountability, and collaboration combined with your authenticity and overall awesomeness create an incredible growth opportunity. You know, the kind of personal and professional development you thought existed only in fairytales.

If you're all about seeking new skills, pairing data with creativity, and owning your outcomes, you'll turn that fairytale into reality. And that's a pretty good feeling.

Growth & learning

Where potential meets opportunity

Growth is our middle name. Or it would be if we had one. Whether you're new in your career or a seasoned domain expert, here you'll hone your craft, build new skills and connections, and grow professionally and personally.

 56% of team members had an upward or lateral change in the last 18 months.

 Level up with mentorship programs, protected learning time, and dedicated career weeks.

People & culture

Where individuality meets belonging

We want what makes you, you. Diverse perspectives make our team stronger and elevate our work. We dig honest feedback and healthy debate and nurture a genuine, respectful culture where people feel safe speaking up.

 "Fellow team members" consistently ranks at the top for why people love working here.

 We're mission-driven, stick to our values, and hold regular belonging check-ins.

Autonomy & accountability

Where freedom meets responsibility

We're mega-doers, not micromanagers. We want practical dreamers who pair data with creativity and instantly press Delete on a predictable, paint-by-numbers job.

 9 out of 10 team members say that their leaders empower them to take initiative.

 Co-creation, flexible schedules, and clear deliverables empower you to own your outcomes.

Why applying should be top on your to-do list

We're a proven, high-growth company with a globally distributed, remote-friendly team. Over half our team works from home offices around the world. We strive to ensure everyone feels welcome—and it shows.

Our values

These aren't just pretty words to post on the office wall. This is who we are.

As Pluralsight evolves, our values evolve with us. These values are our guideposts as we make crucial business decisions, collaborate with one another and resolve impasses. As we commit to these values, we commit to ourselves and each other to build a better future for Pluralsight and our customers.

Champion the customer

We truly care about our customers, both internal and external, and seek to understand their needs before creating solutions. We deliver solutions and features that delight our customers and offer empathetic service tailored to their unique needs.

Seek to learn

We love learning. Through our innovative solutions, we encourage ourselves, our teams and our customers to grow. We welcome and look for diverse perspectives and opinions because they enhance our decisions. When we fall short, we ask, "What can we learn from this?" and make concrete plans to improve

Own our outcomes

We hold ourselves accountable, as individuals and teams. We're all responsible for achieving the mission, so we strive to add value in every interaction—even if it's not in our job description. We understand what success looks like and act in the best interest of the company, prioritizing company outcomes over team and individual outcomes when necessary.

Communicate with purpose

We're candid in our communication, and openly share the bad news with the good. We care about the growth of the business and others, so we proactively ask for and provide actionable feedback. We value each other's viewpoints by seeking to understand, acting with empathy and assuming good intent.

Commit to our future

We strive to understand the big picture and how we contribute to the company's objectives. We are united and fully commit to business decisions once they're made, even if we don't entirely agree. We approach challenges with optimism and harness the power of teamwork to accomplish our goals.

We're blushing

No, really. We are. No matter how many times we're named one of the best places to work, it never gets old.

If they had a Coolest Places to Work award, we'd win that, too.
