REFACTOR THE FUTURE

REFINE YOUR COMPETITIVE EDGE

- ☐ Close critical skills gaps
- ☐ Deliver better products to customers, faster
- ☐ Stay ahead of today's tech trends
- ☐ Harness the power of generative AI to keep your competitive edge

If this to-do list sounds familiar, you need to attend Pluralsight Navigate. At our exclusive executive event, you'll map out strategies to develop the AI experts and tech gurus you need to deliver on objectives this year and beyond.

LEAD OUT IN TECH SKILL DEVELOPMENT

Navigate connects tech executives and learning leaders for live keynotes and conversations that address challenges tech leaders like you face every day. We're talking relevant, actionable insights from expert practitioners on everything from achieving digital transformation in an ever-evolving tech landscape to navigating the world of generative AI.

PROMPT A NEW WAVE OF INNOVATION

Orgs are using generative AI tools to reshape their tech strategy, redefine how they work, and reignite innovation. The secret? Investing in the people behind the prompts.

Attend Navigate to learn how to pair your people with our platform and generate the future-ready AI experts—and expert innovators—your org needs. We'll chat generative AI in our:

- Opening keynote with Aaron Skonnard, Pluralsight CEO, and guests Max Wessell (SAP) and Bryan Alli (Delta)
- Fireside chat & audience Q&A with Alexis Ohanian, Founder of Seven Seven Six and Co-founder and former Executive Chairman of Reddit
- Pluralsight Skills and Pluralsight Flow keynotes
- "Generative AI and enterprise strategy: Navigating new possibilities" session with Dan Anderegg, Pluralsight Sr. Director of Data Skills
- "What you think you know about Gen AI—and why it's wrong" session with Simon Allardice, Pluralsight Principal Author
