

Help Us End the Food Crisis

In Buffalo, 56,000 households can't get to a supermarket. That's 56,000 families who can't eat fresh food. That's unacceptable to us. We believe everyone deserves fresh food no matter where you come from or where you live. That's why we're training our youth to build thriving community gardens.

This year, we're expanding our Growing Green Youth Program. It will turn over 850 high school students into food justice leaders. Our Green Youth will become leaders in their communities. At MAP, our youth go on to grow sustainable gardens, gain culinary skills, and build a food system that serves everyone.

With the threat of climate change knocking at the door, we need your help now more than ever. To grow our youth program, we need to expand our greenhouse. 100% of your donation will support our greenhouse projects this year. Here's what we have in the works:

- ✓ Greenhouse repairs to provide a safe space for our youth
- ✓ Drip irrigation systems to grow fresh food
- ✓ Hand shovels and gloves to provide the best tools
- ✓ Seasonal farm staff to train our youth

Our culinary kitchen and greenhouse allow us to train the next generation of leaders to end the food crisis. With your help, we can give young people the tools they need to change our food system so that it serves everyone equally.

"In the social justice group, I learned about equity vs equality, how the food system impacts communities, redlining, food deserts, and more. I hope you choose to support us so that MAP can continue educating youth and have a positive impact on the surrounding communities." - Jenya

When you become a donor, you join a community of Farm Friends who are committed to ending the food crisis in Buffalo for good. From June 5th to July 1st, generous donors will double your impact by matching your donation.

Thank you for supporting our mission to train youth leaders and give everyone fresh food. Without your generosity, none of this would be possible.
