

BetterMynd is like a Lo-Fi Mix for your College

Long wait times, no availability, and daily burnout shouldn't be the norm. So we set out to create a totally new way to give students therapy. Everything we do is to make mental health better for colleges like yours.

High Clinical Standards

Our Counselor Leadership Team hires therapists who are licensed and established in their field. You get a team who is dedicated to helping your college students be their best selves.

The Right Therapy for Your Students

Whether your students are going through complex trauma or dealing with an eating disorder, our therapists have seen it all. We'll help those students so your team can focus on what they specialize in.

24/7 Access to Support

With our Online Portal, students set up appointments in a way that works with their schedule. They get the therapy they need and your counselors get breathing room. Even during finals week.

An Inclusive Community

Our therapists come from a wide range of cultures and backgrounds. They have experience helping students from marginalized communities. That means your students will feel seen and heard, no matter where they come from.
