

"I Love the friendships and connections us hosts share. We have such wildly different and diverse shows, but we all come together to make this station great!"