To whom it may concern:

I am writing this recommendation letter for Ellis Dunn. I believe Ellis is an exemplary student who would make an outstanding addition to your program.

Being an instructor of Ellis, I have had the opportunity to teach him in Animation Effects, Post-Production, and Lighting for Cinematography, as well as work with him on various student productions here at the University of Dayton. Whether it be Flyer TV Productions or in the classroom, Ellis is always on the go demonstrating that he is a reliable individual and also a focused and dedicated worker.

While in class, I have observed his skills develop in the use of many different media applications with an understanding to help him tackle various projects within the field of media. I also know of his strong video production and writing skills from within the department being instructed by other professors in the field of media.

Ellis is a dedicated student with strong work ethics. He goes above and beyond what most students consider excellent work, knowing that his work is a large representation of himself. He is always eager to learn new skills and fearless on being presented with new challenges.

I strongly recommend Ellis for his high skills in overall organization and understanding in a wide range of media production skills.

Sincerely,
