(based on true events)

Tagline: The offer that should have been refused.

Logline: Corporate America spit her out - the underworld scooped her up. A nocturnal existence in a Jersey nightclub run by a mobster became her new reality. Long-term employment was never an option. Would she get out in time?

Synopsis: Mobster Johnny Verona owned and ran the hottest club in New Jersey in the '90s. Patrons were a motley mix of gangsters and G-men who chased each other around during the week and bought each other drinks on the weekend. Connections got you in the club, caution kept you safe.
