

Win! 4x £100

The answer to each question can be found in the box at the bottom. Cross them off as you go.

QUESTION Time

- 1 Café Main Street is a business in which TV soap?
- 2 What name is given to a baby bat?
- 3 Madonna appeared in, and provided the theme for, which James Bond film?
- 4 In Egyptian mythology, what is the name of the god of mummification and protector of tombs, typically represented as having a jackal's head?
- 5 Traditionally, on which milestone birthday would you be given the 'key to the door'?
- 6 In how many of the movies in the Beverly Hills Cop film franchise has Eddie Murphy played Detective Axel Foley?
- 7 Professor Brian Cox was once a member of D:Ream, a band best known for which '90s no 1?
- 8 What type of sauce is drizzled over the dessert Pears Belle Helene?
- 9 In which century was the Eiffel Tower built?
- 10 What is the Spanish word for 'Spanish'?
- 11 Paul Rudd, Meryl Streep and Melissa McCarthy are among the guest stars who've joined regulars Selena Gomez, Martin Short and Steve Martin in which hit comedy-crime show, now into its fourth season?
- 12 How many points are there on the Star of David?
- 13 Hass is a variety of which fruit?
- 14 Who created the character Long John Silver?
- 15 Which English city was known by the Romans as Aquae Sulis?
- 16 How is the US rapper and entrepreneur Shawn Carter professionally known?
- 17 On a standard golf course, which hole is the last to be played?
- 18 What word connects down, fast, title, suit?
- 19 Boursin is a brand of which foodstuff?
- 20 True Love Ways, Raining in My Heart and Peggy Sue are all songs by which '50s music star?

- | | | |
|--------------------------------|-------------------|------------------------------|
| ★ TRACK | ★ CHOCOLATE | ★ ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON |
| ★ ESPANOL | ★ DIE ANOTHER DAY | ★ SIX |
| ★ FOUR | ★ BATH | ★ THINGS CAN ONLY GET BETTER |
| ★ ONLY MURDERS IN THE BUILDING | ★ 21 | ★ PUP |
| ★ JAY-Z | ★ BUDDY HOLLY | ★ AVOCADO |
| ★ NINETEENTH | ★ ANUBIS | ★ EIGHTEENTH |
| ★ EMMERDALE | ★ CALIFORNIA | |
| | ★ CHEESE | |

FINISHED? One of the answers will be left over and this is the prize one. Write this answer on the entry coupon, enter online, phone or text. See page 57.

Our Lives

We bonded over four-legged friends and soon, we were surrounded by all creatures great and small. By Jayne Walker, 49

As I finished off a blow-dry, one of my regulars came in through the door and gave me a smile. 'Hey, Mike, I'm just with a client, be with you in a minute,' I joked. I worked at a dog groomers, so my four-legged clientele didn't mind if I had a chat. Mike was one of my favourite customers. We'd always chat about our love of animals, especially his dog Brodie, and I couldn't help but feel a spark whenever he came in. Finally, Mike asked me on a date and of course, we talked non-stop about our pets – Brodie and my two dogs and cat. Mike worked in a high-powered job as a business account manager but wanted a slower pace of life. 'I've always loved animals,' he said, 'maybe I could find a job where I work with them.' I wanted a change of direction myself so after we'd been together a few years, we looked into different options. 'How about becoming dog walkers?' Mike said. 'It sounds perfect for us,' I replied. We booked in for an interview with We Love Pets, who run dog walking and daycare services all over the UK, to find out more about what it would involve. But the day after our chat,

ANIMAL HOUSE

Me and Mike with our dogs

we got more than we bargained for. 'We were so impressed with you both, we wondered if you'd like to run your own franchise in the area?' Jo, the founder, asked over the phone. We looked at each other with wide eyes. 'We'll do it!' Mike replied. It was a no-brainer, so we underwent training to set up our own branch in Didcot, Oxfordshire. We were dealing with all sorts, from enquiries to sorting out rotas for dog walkers to horse feeders. It was much more full-on than what we'd had in mind and it wasn't too long before we got hands-on with the animals. Just a few weeks later, we had a frantic phone call from a local woman. 'It's our wedding in a few days, but one of our dogs is so ill,' she cried. 'Would him properly. He was our first foster pet and a year flew by until we found him a new home but it was a tough goodbye. 'We'll miss you, love,' I said, as we gave him to his new owners but we knew he was in good hands. After Sky, we helped rehome Gizmo, a scruffy Labradoodle, but it became harder and harder to part ways with the furry friends we fostered. 'Of course,' I replied calmly. 'I'll be right over.' I made my way to the couple's house and stayed with the dog during their nuptials. Thankfully, he was fine on their wedding day but sadly, passed away two days later. 'You can't help but get attached,' I said to Mike. 'I know,' he replied, giving me a hug. Before long, we had lots of owners coming to us for help with their pets, and even asking if we could help to find them new homes. So we ended up taking in Sky, a little terrier whose elderly owners were no longer able to look after someone be able to sit in with him in case anything happens to him, so he's not alone?' 'Of course,' I replied calmly. 'I'll be right over.'

The Look of Love by Dusty Springfield. While I'm helping pets in need, Mike has a knack for spotting and saving wild animals too. He's helped rescue deer from traffic and fences and even nearly got in trouble with the police once, after he blocked both lanes of traffic to help a family of ducks cross the road. 'Good job the police officer was an animal lover too,' Mike chuckled when he told me what had happened. Anytime Mike is out for a while, I know he's probably helping someone out of a sticky situation. Since we set up our animal house nearly 10 years ago, we've helped hundreds of animals each month, through fostering and care. We still keep in touch with a lot of the pets we've helped rehome and they still feel like family to us. Gizmo didn't move too far so we get to see her often and take her for walks. At the moment, we share our home with Shep, Blue, four corgis and one cat, but we still often have special guests. We can't say no to an animal in need. There's never a dull day for us but we wouldn't change it for the world. Mike and I flocked together because of our love for animals and we've made our own pack.

● To find out more, visit welovepets.care

'You can't help but get attached'

Pictures Shutterstock

By Danielle Lett. Pictures We Love Pets/Oxfordshire Wildlife Rescue