Key: DeWolfe Miller, Prof. Of Epidemiology, UH Manoa Key: Robert Littman, Prof. Of Classics, UH Manoa	UH researchers DeWolfe Miller and Robert Littman are studying the causes of death and disease in Egyptian mummies.
	As part of their three-year project, hundreds of mummies from all walks of life, will be CAT-scanned to get 3-dimensional images without disturbing the bodies.
	This will allow the team to answer questions about health and disease in a pre-modern civilization.
