Remove audit fear with a time-stamped digital signing service

Audits come in many shapes, sizes, and targets—and none of them are pleasant.

We're here to help you and your company take the bite out of one type of audit, in particular: those that enforce compliance with your company's digital signing workflow process.

Electronic signatures speed and ease business transactions, but with that convenience comes responsibility to ensure the integrity of signatures and signing workflow policies.

Companies that do not layer in the extra security of a digital signature with a corresponding digital certificate leave themselves open to non-compliance. Read our data sheet to learn more.

A trusted signing solution

When your company places its trust in a solution like GlobalSign's Digital Signing Service (DSS), there's no need to fear the next audit, Adam.

That's because GlobalSign's DSS legally validates every digital signature with a third-party trusted timestamp providing protection against document tampering.

Sounds stress-free, doesn't it? We can help you get started today, and take the teeth out of audit fears.

OK, I want to get started
