

BREAKING BOUNDARIES: 12 CANADIAN UNIVERSITIES WHERE YOU CAN APPLY FOR FREE!

BY GABRIELLA MICHAEL

In the dynamic landscape of higher education, the pursuit of knowledge should never be hindered by financial barriers. In Canada, a beacon of inclusivity and academic excellence, several universities have taken a bold step towards accessibility by waiving application fees.

Canada is a center for the world's leading and most prestigious universities which are home to many international students and great alumni also. With the country's lower rates of crime, decent standard of living, stunning landscapes, diverse culture, a strong economy, developed towns and cities, a plethora of courses available in different fields of study, and a flexible education system, why won't any student want to study in Canada?

You might be asking, "Why apply to universities without application fee?" Come on, who doesn't love an opportunity to save some more money!!

Plus, we all know saving every penny that you can is one of the best ways to finance education anywhere, especially in Canada. Studying in Canada is quite expensive and there is not much scope for cost reduction except for financial aid such as scholarships.

Even though you are applying to about five (5) institutions, you will only confirm the admission offer at one of these universities. Since the application fees are non-refundable you can't recover any amount paid. But including some universities in Canada without application fees on your application list, you can save yourself the trouble of spending a lot of application money. Therefore, it is recommended to include a few universities in Canada with no application fee while applying.

And guess what? There are twelve universities in the Great White North that are waving goodbye to application fees!

From Toronto to Alberta, if you're looking to mitigate the hefty application costs of your study abroad aspirations, then you should dive into this list and explore the coolest universities where you can apply for without breaking the bank!

1. University of British Columbia:

Picture this: lush greenery, snow-capped mountains, and endless possibilities for adventure. Welcome to the University of British Columbia! Situated in Vancouver, UBC offers more than just the picturesque shores of the Pacific Ocean; it beckons aspiring scholars with its scenic campus and world-class faculty without the burden of application fees.

The University of British Columbia was founded in 1908 and is known for charging no application fees from international students belonging to the world's 50 least developed nations, as declared by the United Nations. Apart from that, the university also doesn't charge any application fees from international and domestic students who are applying for graduate programs in the Department of Chemistry.

By eliminating application fees, the University of British Columbia ensures that talent knows no economic boundaries as they also offer courses ranging from Environmental Science, Sustainable Agriculture, Engineering, Computer science, to Health Sciences, Business Administration, Arts and Humanities and Life Sciences. Apply now and embrace the West Coast vibes!

2. University of Toronto:

Nestled in the heart of Toronto, the University of Toronto is not just about skyscrapers and bustling streets; this prestigious institution also stands tall as a pioneer in academic innovation. Founded in 1827, The University of Toronto offers more than 700 undergraduate programs and over 400 study areas in more than 250 graduate programs at the graduate level. With its commitment to diversity and academic excellence, U of T welcomes applicants from all walks of life without imposing an application fee.

At the University of Toronto, you can explore a wide range of courses including, Computer Science, Archeology, Quantum Physics, Robotics, Film studies, Gender Studies or unraveling the mysteries of Ancient History – all without worrying about application fees! So, get ready to join the U of T fam without worrying about emptying your pockets!

3. University of Prince Edward Island:

Get ready to spread your wings at the University of Prince Edward Island! Nestled on the tranquil shores of Charlottetown, UPEI offers a supportive environment for students to pursue their passions. And the best part? You can apply without any application fees!

UPEI was established in 1969 by merging St. Dunstan's University and Prince of Wales College. The university has since grown and evolved, offering diverse academic programs including Sustainable Tourism, Sustainable Design Engineering, Veterinary Medicine, Island studies, Nursing, Bioscience, English Literature and Creative Writing, Education, Music Performance, etc. So, why wait? Join the UPEI community and let your dreams take flight!

4. University of Alberta:

Say hello to endless opportunities at the University of Alberta! Located in Edmonton and founded in 1908, U of A is among the cheapest university in Canada and offers a supportive environment for students to thrive academically and personally. It boasts a significant reputation and popularity, hosting a diverse student body from various parts of the world.

The university stands out with extensive academic offerings, featuring 500 graduate programs, 250 specializations, and 300 research programs. And the best part? The university does not impose application fees for undergraduate degrees! Also, the university doesn't charge any application fees from the international students who are applying for graduate studies if they are from one of the United Nations' list of least developed countries of the world.

From Engineering to Indigenous Studies, the University of Alberta offers a wide range of courses that cater to every interest. Whether you are interested in building bridges or building communities, U of A has the resources to help you succeed.

5. University of Calgary:

With its dynamic research environment and a commitment to community engagement, the University of Calgary stands as a testament to academic innovation. And guess what? You can apply without worrying about application fees!

By removing financial barriers, this institution ensures that talent finds its rightful place within its halls. Whether you're passionate about rocks or stocks, UCalgary has the courses to help you reach your full potential, ranging from Geology to Business Administration. They also offer other courses including but not limited to, Engineering, Energy and Environment, Health Sciences, Computer science, Social sciences and Creative arts and Design. So, what are you waiting for? Join the UCalgary community and make your mark!

6. Tyndale University:

Following next on our vibrant list of universities in Canada with no application fees is the renowned Tyndale University. Located in Toronto and established over a century ago, Ontario Tyndale University is a unique institution that combines academic excellence with a strong Christian foundation. With a commitment to providing supportive and inclusive learning environment, Tyndale welcomes students from diverse backgrounds without any application fees.

Regarded as Canada's biggest seminary the university delivers both undergraduate and postgraduate degrees and diplomas to its student in different courses ranging from Theology and Religious studies, Psychology, to Business Administration, English Literature and History.

So if you're looking for a university where you can explore your interests, deepen your faith, and prepare for a fulfilling career, Tyndale University is the place to be!

7. Royal Roads University:

Adding onto our list of universities in Canada with no application fees, we have the ever famous Royal Roads University located in Victoria, British Columbia. Royal Roads University is renowned for its innovative programs and stunning campus nestled amidst the lush landscapes of Vancouver Island.

The university offers seven undergraduate and three graduate programs in management, tourism, hospitality, law, business, environmental sciences, and communications. Students can pursue these programs in person, online, or through a hybrid approach without imposing any application fee!

Apply now and embark on a transformative journey of learning and discovery!

8. Carleton University:

If you are looking for cheap universities in Canada, then you should consider Carleton University!

Located in the heart of Ottawa, Ontario, Carleton University is renowned for its commitment to academic excellence and research-driven education.

To qualify for admission to Carleton University, prospective students must demonstrate proof of completing three years of high school or university in any country where English is the primary language.

With a diverse range of programs including, Computer Science, Engineering, Political science, Journalism and Communication, Public Affairs Management, etc - Carleton University stands out as one of the most cost-effective options for international students seeking to study in Canada without needing the IELTS exam. And what's more? There is no fee to apply to Carleton!

So, why wait? Join the Carleton University and unlock your full potential!

9. Redeemer University:

Situated in Ancaster, Ontario, Redeemer University is known for its commitment to providing a transformative education grounded in Christian principles. It was established in 1982 by the Association for Reformed Political Action (ARPA) and the Reformed Christian community. The university is affiliated with the Christian Reformed Church in North America.

With a focus on rigorous academics and a supportive community, Redeemer University offers a range of undergraduate programs in arts, science, business, and education without imposing any application fee!

Redeemer welcomes students to pursue their passions, and grow intellectually, spiritually and personally. So, if you're looking for an institution that will challenge you in these aspects, then you should be at Redeemer University.

10. University of Victoria:

Located on the stunning coastline of British Columbia, the University of Victoria is more than just a university; it is a gateway to adventure and exploration. With its vibrant campus community and breathtaking natural surroundings, Uvic is one of the popular Canadian universities without application fees for international students!

The University of Victoria offers undergraduate and graduate programs in various fields, including humanities, sciences, engineering, social sciences, business, and fine arts. The university is known for its research contributions in several areas. So if you're ready to embark on a journey of research, discovery and excitement you should definitely be applying to UVic.

11. Quest University:

Next up, in our list of universities in Canada with no application fees is the Quest University nestled in the majestic mountains of Squamish, British Columbia in Canada. Quest University is a privately run university that was founded in 2007, and a safe haven for those who dare to dream, explore and push the boundaries of knowledge.

The university has around 600 student population only and hence this university is seen as an unconventional institution of Canada. Quest University only offers a single degree or program which is the Bachelor of Arts and Sciences. Plus, they do not charge any application fee for either international or domestic students who are applying for their course of Bachelor of Arts and Sciences.

It is said that the university provides a relatively accessible admission process compared to other institutions. So what's the wait? Apply now and begin your quest for knowledge and enlightenment!

12. Booth University College:

Last up on our list is the Booth University College, located in the heart of Winnipeg, Manitoba. Booth University College is recognized as a liberal arts University College with a beacon of hope and compassion in a world hungry for change. With its commitment to social justice and community engagement, Booth welcomes students from diverse backgrounds without any application fees!

Earlier known as The Salvation Army William and Catherine Booth University College, Booth University College was established around 1982, in affiliation with Salvation Army.

Booth's entire campus is divided into four (4) different schools or departments namely: Business, Social Work, Humanities and Social Studies and Continuing Studies.

This small Canadian University charges no application fees from applicants belonging to Canada and USA.

So, there you have it! Twelve (12) Canadian universities where you can apply for free and kick-start your journey to higher education without breaking the bank. By waiving application fees, they not only level the playing field but also empower students to pursue their academic aspirations without hesitation. Canada offers a diverse range of opportunities for students to thrive academically and personally, plus employability prospects. Hence, the reason why Canada is the preferred study destination for many international students.

The above listed Canadian universities without application fees are known for offering a wide range of undergraduate and postgraduate programmes. So, what are you waiting for? Apply now and let your dreams take flight!