Lynda Deman Brain Tumor Removal

Lynda Deman

For most people, finding out they had an egg-shaped tumor in their left frontal lobe would be the beginning of an emotional rollercoaster. But for Lynda Deman, meeting with Presence Health's Dr. Tamar Hersonsky was what began to calm what she describes as "the storm" inside her body. Hear Lynda describe how the Presence Health team put her at ease and got her on track for a speedy recovery.

Brittany Pirc Car Accident

Brittany Pirc

The rapid response of the emergency workers who pulled 16-year-old Brittany Pirc out of a car wreck was what got her to Presence St. Joseph Medical Center alive. With severe swelling putting pressure on her young brain, it was the Presence Neuroscience Institute team that was able to keep her alive. Watch Brittany, less than a year later stand before those very doctors and EMTs to thank them.
